

HONOR GUARDS FOR EXPLORER.

Uruguayan Soldiers Watch Over Shackleton.

Body Rests in Rough Coffin Made by Whalers.

Comrade Tells of Sir Ernest's Sudden Death.

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
MONTEVIDEO (Uruguay) Jan. 30.—The body of Sir Ernest Shackleton, the British explorer, lies in a hospital here in a rough wooden coffin that was made for him by Norwegian whalers of the island of South Georgia where he died on January 5.

A squad of Uruguayan soldiers acts as guard of honor and until the body is sent to England, probably February 11, the guard will be maintained by the Uruguayan government which plans also to render other honors.

In this handwork of simple living antarctic islanders—a strong box of unplaned oak—laid with corrugated zinc—the famous explorer will be buried in England.

"I am sure that is what he would wish in keeping his own simplicity and because these whalers of the South Sea, whom he loved, made it his," said Capt. Huseby, meteorologist of the steamship Quest, and a close friend of the explorer, who arrived with the body here last Sunday on the Norwegian steamer Prof. Cruvel.

DEATH SUDDEN.
As described by Capt. Huseby, Sir Ernest's death was sudden. It occurred at 3:10 o'clock in the morning in his cabin the day after the arrival from Rio Janeiro at the principal whaling station of South Georgia, a place called Gryvicken, a town of 500 inhabitants.

All the whalers from Rio Janeiro the explorer had suffered neuralgic pains in his chest and back but he insisted that the attack was ordinary. He fought off all suggestions of returning for treatment, confident that the pains would disappear.

The quest reached Gryvicken on the afternoon of January 4, and Sir Ernest immediately went ashore and arranged for provisions and coal.

The explorer planned to proceed direct to the ice barrier in a day or two for the first exploration trip in search of new land. He returned to the ship at 9 o'clock that evening in the best of spirits and landed in his usual way. He retired early in the evening apparently in perfect health.

IN SEVERE PAIN.
Shortly before 3:10 o'clock the next morning Dr. Alexander Maclean, the principal medical officer of the expedition, was summoned by Sir Ernest. The physician found him suffering severe neuralgic pains across the back and chest. Before any measures could be taken to relieve his pain, he had died, three minutes after he called for assistance.

Later the body was brought ashore and placed in the English church of Gryvicken and the Norwegian and British flags of the island were half-masted. The best efforts were made to embalm the body, although the proper fluids were lacking. This is now being done at Montevideo.

The steamer Prof. Cruvel was the only vessel in the port, besides the Quest and after taking her cargo to the island, she was unable to communicate the news until her arrival.

The captain, Frank Wild, who assumed command of the expedition, proceeded with preparations to continue in accordance with an agreement with Sir Ernest that Capt. Wild would carry on.

Accordingly, the Quest departed January 16, in search of Endorby land, reported to have been seen by Capt. Endorby in 1892 years ago. The expedition probably will return in March when it will be decided whether further exploration will be continued.

GAS FAILS AS COLD ARRIVES.

sumers was $8,000,000 cubic feet. The demand of Sunday exceeded that of the 29th night, when the peak of consumption was reached by supplying 70,000,000 cubic feet of fuel.

Chief Engineer Masser of the State Railroad Commission yesterday announced that he had ordered the temporary suspension of gas service to such industrial concerns of the city as would draw from the supply of domestic use.

Outlying factories and concerns using natural gas in operations have not been affected by the shutdown which, it is believed, will be of brief duration.

More than $5,000,000 was spent in making improvements upon the plant of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company during 1921. It is stated, and the Railroad Commission report that no stages had come through from the south by 6 p.m. Stages which had left Bakersfield for Los Angeles finally fought their way to Lebec and there were halted, it was reported.

The Motor Transit Company reported it had crews of men trying to open up the road.

FALSE CLAIMS EXPOSED.

These figures refute the oft-repeated, false, malicious and misleading statement of the Los Angeles Examiner that it leads in advertising in Los Angeles. It never has; it never did; it never will—in any way.

The irrefutable evidence is furnished by this advertising score covering a long period.

NINE-YEAR ADVERTISING RECORD.

In 1913 The Times led the Examiner by 3,825,464 lines. By 1921 The Times had grown to over 10,000,000 lines.

STORM MAROONS MANY AUTOISTS.

half feet on the level, and blown into drifts some six feet deep.

RESCUES FIGHT DREDS.

The rescue parties from Los Angeles, Bakersfield, and other points, last night were frantically fighting the huge snowdrifts in an effort to rush food and clothing to the sufferers in the mountains.

Communication with the ranger's cabin was established through a private line of the General Petroleum Corporation. All other telephone and telegraph lines were reported out of service, having gone down under the weight of the snow and high winds.

From Sandberg's, teams were started out to rescue parties of motorists reported suffering along the highway. After more than an hour's hard battle against the snow, however, the rescuing party was forced to turn back.

Linemen Reports.
Five reports of the danger to the travelers along the route in the neighborhood of Sandberg's and Bailey's, south of the ranger station, were received last night by the Southern California Telephone Company.

The first linemen reporting had been in the hills reporting the telephone wires. He was equipped with snowshoes. He said he had endeavored unsuccessfully to reach some of the motorists along the route, but after failing he pushed on to bring relief.

Reports from the telephone linemen were that many parties were marooned along the highway in the vicinity of Sandberg's and Bailey's.

With Bailey's as their objective, many workers from the Automobile Club of Southern California left yesterday morning, headed by C. E. McGee, field secretary, planning to reach the Ridge Route highway at Bailey's by making a detour via the Elgin-Baldwin route.

The storm, which at times was a veritable blizzard in the high mountain passes, began Saturday night, continuing with great fury Sunday and it was then that many of the motorists were stranded. At many points along the route snow was still falling yesterday. Various depths ranging from four and one-half feet down to three feet were reported from Sandberg to Lebec.

Forest Ranger DeLapp reported that many of the persons who found shelter in his station had been exposed to the storm all night Sunday. His request for relief from Lebec through the State Highway Commission was immediate.

SNOWFALL CONTINUES.
Both mountains and lowland areas of Kern county from Mt. Whitney and the Sierra Nevada in the north to the Tehachapi, the Tejon and San Emidio ranges to the south, were gripped by the unprecedented snowstorm that was continuing unabated in most of these places late last night.

From Melvale to Lancaster and Palmdale, across the Antelope Valley, a foot of snow lies on the ground, some of it in the mountains. Reports were that parts of the San Bernardino range are obliterated by the snowdrifts. Eighteen inches of snow were reported in Mint Canyon.

At the Motor Transit Company office in Los Angeles last night a report was received that a stage had been stranded on the Ridge Route early in the day. Communication with Bakersfield was cut off and whether this party had succeeded in getting through was not known.

Two other stages starting out had turned back to Los Angeles. From Bakersfield came the report that no stages had come through from the south by 6 p.m. Stages which had left Bakersfield for Los Angeles finally fought their way to Lebec and there were halted, it was reported.

The Motor Transit Company reported it had crews of men trying to open up the road.

IN ADDITION TO REPAIRING THE telephone lines, workers of the Southern California Telephone Company yesterday also were endeavoring to carry relief to the persons reported stranded along the highway. Two automobiles, with provisions and blankets, were dispatched to their aid.

MANY MORE CUT OFF.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 30.—As a result of the worst blizzard in years, that has raged over the San Bernardino Mountains the past thirty-six hours, all mountain roads are blocked, and scores of automobile parties have been white yesterday in some of the foothill districts, but no damage was reported due to the frost.

Practically all sections south of Bakersfield reported cirrus weather Sunday and yesterday. Heavy sections were rain, sleet, hail and snow, and in the higher levels of the inland country there were considerable thunder and lightning, especially in the vicinity of Redlands. There is three feet of snow at Oak Glen and four feet in Red Valley, with a foot strewn over the Tulelake Valley.

INCLINE CAR DERAILED.
Sightseers who visited Mt. Lowe Sunday got a little more than their money's worth, according to reports when the Mt. Lowe car plying between Alpine Tavern and the top of the Incline Railway was derailed by a snowdrift at Granite Gate.

The occupants of the car, seventy-one in number, got out and walked the remaining distance to the top of the mountain, from which place they descended to the valley in safety.

Santa Paula reports heavy snow there, and Santa Barbara states that the heaviest fall of snow in nine years tops the mountains near by.

Officials of the three steam railway systems entering Los Angeles reported last night that all trains are now stalled but that the snowstorm reported in the mountain regions had not affected the transcontinental lines.

Following are comparative figures of the rainfall in inches at Southern California stations.

APPROPRIATION BILL IS PASSED BY HOUSE.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The independent office appropriation bill carrying $494,304,233, most of which is for use by the Veterans' Bureau, was passed today by the House and sent to the Senate.

For the bureau the bill appropriated $27,474,632, and the only change in this feature was the elimination of a provision which would have limited the number of camps at which training schools might be established to Camp Sherman, O.

Some of the items making up the $199,000,000 appropriation for the Shipping Board came in for sharp attack, the House defeating 171 to 117, a Democratic motion to recommend the bill for restriction of the board's advertising activities to $500,000. In addition to $900,000 carried for advertising the board has available $100,000, plus $1,700,000 for advertising.

DEMOCRATIC EFFORT TO LIMIT SHIPPING BOARD IS DEFEATED.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Congressman Osborne, who is acting chairman of the House Committee on Rivers and Harbors, was today selected chairman of the subcommittee dealing with new surveys in the forthcoming bill. This will undoubtedly make certain the inclusion in the few bill of a survey for the extension of the breakwater to make an enlarged harbor to the shore at Long Beach. This new survey will also contain a report on the desirability and feasibility of deepening the channel in the present harbor to thirty-five feet up to the turning basin in the inner harbor. Both of these projects are of the greatest possible importance to Los Angeles and the entire Southwest and to have them included in the bill will advance the work immediately by gaining at least one year's time.

At the same time Congressman Osborne is much depressed by the disposition of the House committee to eliminate from the river and harbor bill all provisions for carrying on present projects where the work can be suspended without great depreciation of loss. In fact the members of the committee, acting under instructions from those in charge of appropriations, apparently are in favor of cutting the bill even much below the estimates sent in by Budget Director Dawes on the recommendation of Secretary of War Weeks. These estimates would have been sufficient to carry on pending and current projects like the Los Angeles Harbor improvements in straightening and dredging the main channel and other similar projects in several harbors of the country.

WAY OF ECONOMY.

The wave of economy in government operations has virtually set the committee against every expenditure for harbors save a small amount for new surveys and the actual maintenance of harbors where to fail to do so would cause obstruction to commerce and deterioration in enterprises already established.

While there may be a change in the situation any relief apparently will have to come from the Senate, where the members of the committee dealing with rivers and harbors are inclined to include new projects. The members of the House, however, are always opposed to changes initiated by the Senate. Unless commercial organizations and business houses of all ports where protests are now under way as in Los Angeles put pressure to bear on Congress the prospects are very much against even the annual development of projects, which have already been undertaken and on which much work has already been done.

Germans Ready to Take Money
from Yankees.

(BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—With typical thoroughness the German cities which are expecting American visitors next summer already are laying plans for exploiting the high value of American currency. If proposals introduced in the Munich Council are adopted, Americans will be requested to pay more than the natives for the celebrated Munich beer on account of the higher value of the dollar and the fact that it will be considered a favor for Volsteaded Americans to be allowed to drink beer at all.

Munich is expecting great crowds of foreigners on account of the Passion Play, and is proposing to give natives special identity cards the nonholders paying increased prices on street cars and at cafes and hotels. If the plan is adopted, Americans expecting a cheap summer abroad will be disappointed, so far as Munich is concerned.

Washington and Idaho Basketball Teams Tie for Lead in Pacific Coast Conference

CALIFORNIA CAGEMEN
RUN INTO TOUGH LUCK.Breaks of Game Against Bears in Northern Invasion; Cards
Also Suffer Reverse.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
PORTLAND, Jan. 30.—University of Washington and University of Idaho lead the Pacific Coast basketball conference. Neither team has lost a game. Unless Washington State turns a handspring and wallops Washington when the two quintets meet in a two-game series this week at Pullman, the leadership of the conference will be deadlocked until Washington and Idaho play in a two-game series at Moscow February 15 and 16.

Results of last week's basketball games were disappointing to California adherents. The Bruins, 1931 basketball champions, lost three games out of four to the two Washington teams, while Stanford managed to manage even in a two-game series with the Oregon hoopers.

California broke even in its series with Washington State. After winning the first contest 21 to 15, the Bears lost the second, 24 to 24. But Washington proceeded to trim the champions in two games 24 to 23 and 26 to 22.

BREAKS AGAINST BEARS.
In justice to the California quintet it must be said that the breaks were against it. The invaders led both Washington and Washington State in two of the games lost and with only two minutes to play the Northerners braced on each occasion and shot two baskets for victories.

Although Oregon lost both of its contests to Stanford, the team looked much stronger than at the beginning of the season. It lost the first game 23 to 22 and the second 21 to 23. At no time did Stanford have a commanding lead. On Friday and Saturday Oregon will meet the Oregon Aggies in a two-game series at Eugene.

Stanford met a stumbling block in the Aggies. The Corvallis players won both games with ease, 37 to 24 and 35 to 14. With Fijita and Capt. Stinson back in the line-up the Aggies worked better than they did against Washington two weeks ago.

Idaho has a powerful team. It defeated the Washington State quintet, 22 to 16 and 15 to 13. The work of the Idaho guards was especially noteworthy. Beating Washington State in two games was no easy matter as the Pullman quintet is one of the strongest in the league.

IDAH0 AT MISSOULA.
Idaho will play the University of Montana Saturday at Missoula. As Montana is not in the conference, the result will not affect the conference standing. Idaho is the only conference team that will not play in a conference game this week.

With Washington playing Washington State at Pullman, Oregon facing the Oregon Aggies at Corvallis and Stanford clashing with California at Palo Alto, all the conference games this week will be confined within the institutions' own State boundaries.

MILLER PASSES
UP LEE MOORE.Wrestling Champion Brands
Proposed Match Joke.

Claims 135-Pound Ringster
Too Small for Him.

Walter Says He Has More
Speed Than Dempsey.

BY ED O'MALLEY.
As the days roll on, Walter Miller, champion middleweight wrestler, is waxing stronger in the belief that a matman has it on a boxer in an assault-at-arms. Walter doubts the idea that Lee Moore, who Jack Dempsey declares can beat any grappler in the world, would have a chance with him. Miller regards Lee in the light of a joke and had the following to say on the subject at the L.A.A.C. yesterday afternoon:

"Why, in the first place, Moore is too small for me. Just imagine a 135-pound man against me. It's absurd! Why, such a match between him and me would not be fair. Why, I would pick Moore up, turn him over and give him a good spanking. However, if Dempsey is willing to back him, I am ready for the bout."

HAS TO LAUGH.

"I have to laugh at Jack saying he could knock out ten wrestlers in the same ring one after another. Well, I don't think he could knock me out, and to prove what I say I will meet him at my gymnasium before a number of newspaper men. He doesn't have to back Lee Moore—he can back himself."

"Another thing, Dempsey speaks about wrestlers being slow. Now I will back myself against him in a boxing ring. I think I am faster than he is in every way. Why, he clinched 'Terp' and 'Terp' turned and yet it took him four rounds to knock the Frenchman out. Now I know I can stand as much punishment as 'Terp'."

FROM IOWA.

While listening to Miller's rant, we ran up with Paul Prehn, who takes Walter on next Thursday night at the L.A.A.C. gymnasium in a wrestling bout. Prehn hails from Iowa and is a state champion. He has charge of the boxing and wrestling department at the University of Iowa. He has 400 boxers and 400 wrestlers under his tuition at the college, he is in a position to give a good idea as to the relative merits of the two classes of athletes. Said he, when questioned as to whether a boxer or wrestler would prevail in a mix-up:

"I have heard that discussed many times and I have yet to find where a boxer had the better of a wrestler. In every instance the two have clashed the wrestler has won."

H.M.S. RALEIGH TO APPEAR SATURDAY.

Fortified with a string of victories against some of the strongest amateur sailors on the Pacific Coast, the team from the H.M.S. Raleigh will invade the local field Saturday afternoon when they play the Sons of St. George at Blair Park, Vernon. The victors made a 15-mile race in the morning and held the strong Olympic Club to a three-goal tie, and are expected to have the better of the argument Saturday. A silver loving cup will be the "piece de resistance." Kick-off will be at 2 p.m. The ship's band of fifty pieces will be "on deck" to entertain the fans.

HOT SHOTS BY WILLIAMS.

Secretary Weber, reveals the following athletes:

First base, Griggs, Cooke and Scott; second base, K. Crandall, McCabe; third base, Lindmore, Busch and Groehling; shortstop, McAuley, Witherton and Beck.

Outfielders, Carroll, Crawford, Ellis, Trombley, Sullivan, Mack, Ham and Killefer himself.

Catchers, Baldwin, Boles, Wheat, Sullivan and Rega.

Among those listed, Boles, Keating and Groehling are uncertainties. Boles retired from baseball two years ago. Keating played independent ball last season. Groehling, who was brought to the Coast by Powers and Chance in 1916, has been playing minor league ball in the Middle West.

All of them are on the Angel reserve list and therefore possibilities. More than one athlete has gone into retirement, only to come out of hiding later.

Unquestionably Los Angeles will receive a number of good men from Chicago in addition to Ponder, York, Trombley and Sullivan, already promised. This Ponder should be some pitcher unless something has gone radically wrong with him. I saw him unfurl some excellent ball for the Pittsburgh Pirates 1920, when he was regarded as one of George Gibson's dependables.

He must have been a pitcher of unusual promise, as he is understood to have cost the Cubs $25,000. Baseball men believe this alliance between Los Angeles and Chicago will eventually place Los Angeles in a most advantageous position, especially when reinforcements are required on short notice during the season.

It was rather expected here that both Los Angeles and Vernon would put in bids for the services of Ed Konetchy, when it was announced that the big first baseman would be released to the minors.

Killefer says he believes Sandow Griggs has at least another season of good service ahead of him at that base. Then, should anything happen to Sandow, Chicago has two young first-sackers, Goodwin of Memphis and Cotter of Springfield, who will be sent here if needed.

Konetchy is something the same style of first baseman as Griggs and H. H. Hays, except considerably taller. Like them, he specializes in slamming the pill. Konetchy is one of the most powerful men in the majors, about the same weight as Fred Merkle, and possibly a bit taller. And he probably has the most expansive mitts in baseball. A spalding nestling inside his knuckles looks about the size of a billiard ball.

Koney would be quite a kyard in this league; possibly not an ace, but a kyard, nevertheless.

Abe Roth, botanist, declares the epheu to be as extinct as the dodo. "They extinguished each other," says Mr. Roth. "The last dodo jumped on the last epheu, and it was a fight to the last flicker. They socked each other to death."

Jan. 30.—Bert Babb, 1932 baseball captain-elect at Oregon Agricultural College and first-string pitcher on last year's nine, has been signed by Jimmy Richardson, business manager of the Seattle baseball club. Babb will not report to Seattle until June after the spring term. He was one of the leading pitchers in the Northwest baseball conference last year.

THE SPORTING LIFE

BY W. A. FRIELSON.

He doesn't listen to a negative or "no."
He still persists in burning round your head—
He never meets with accident or damage.
And it seems impossible to knock him dead.
He is always there with made-up tales of sorrow,
And he'll haunt you at the ball park,
ring, or track.
And if it does matter when you loosen up and help him—
Just a day or two, and he will sure be back.

Oh, the whine, the moan, the tiresome hard-luck story—
And his last appeal: "You wouldn't let me starve?"
Yea, but if you could only be a cannibal.
How gloriously his wishbone you could carve!

Honest work? Nix! That has not attraction for him—
Toll of any kind does not appeal as such.
He won't even think of work while you are soft and easy—
Yet when he can touch and touch and touch!

The gruff, impolite and sullen guy may be a little bit of a stand-offish fellow—but, anyway, he isn't bothered all the time by moochers.

EDUCATION MADE A BUN OUT OF ME!

It is said that men who fight Tommy Gibbons get a boxing lesson. And when they fight Jack Dempsey they get a whole education.

Ira Flaggstead, who did his best for Detroit last season, probably wonders where they'll want him to play next. The records show that Mr. Flaggstead began his professional career as a catcher, then became an outfielder and was struggling valiantly as a shortstop last summer.

The ball, it is understood, will be less lively next season, but that won't make the noble athletes any less lively in their salary demands.

GAMES THIS WEEK.

Hollywood at San Marino.
Pasadena at Long Beach.
San Gabriel at San Jose.
San Juan at Alhambra.

L. A. High having pushed Pasadena out of the running for the City League basketball plum, temporarily at least, the race for the title has narrowed down to three teams—Long Beach, the heavy favorite; Manual Arts and Hollywood. Pasadena was considered as second only to the Jackrabbits in the casaba pastime until last Friday, when the Pioneers quite unexpectedly got the Bulldogs' number and rang it all afternoon.

Next Friday's list of games promises excitement for four teams at least. Hollywood will play host to Pasadena's subdued quintet and, because of the Pioneers' recent victory over L. A. High, they are doped to win. They will have to down a fighting mad team, for Coach Grimm's youngsters, all of whom are first-class, will undoubtedly be served out generously.

LOOKS GOOD.
Poly and Lincoln have a scheduled maul in the Rialto pits' new gym that should keep the bugs happy. The result will not cut much ice in the City League inasmuch as both teams are close to the bottom, but school rivalry will make it a real battle.

Aside from these games the City League schedule will not be much to write home about. Long Beach should have an easy time disposing of the L. A. High hoopers, although some say that the Romans have just hit their stride. They will doubtless be lopsided affair, with the Trollers carrying the heavy end of the score.

SEEK MARTIN

We got up to the club and I saw a lot of the birds sitting around righting letters to their Mrs. or to their dear patios, and it was not enough excitement for me so I went upstairs to where Roy Miller of Miller's Theater was talking to Ed Moriarty and Dr. Taylor. Chas. Keppan and De Witt C. Van Court was talking in a corner and I said to Chas. how about a pair of six or a new necktie if I put his name in the WHO'S WHO, which I am making up for the Secret Service, and he said O.K.

WILL MEET JOE MARTIN.
Lee Moran came along and said how was my Mrs. and he introduced me to Mr. Harry Pollard, which directed the pitcher out to Universal, called THE LEATHER PUSHERS, which was rote by H. C. Witwer. He said it was a swell story, which I had already read in Colliers, a Eastern daily paper, which is printed once weekly, and I also said I scene the pitcher, and it was O.K., except for the F. Ball case, when three woves of infamy charged forward without any opposition, and falls on one poor bird with the ball. He said it was in the days of the Flying Wedge, and I said April Fool because they never had no Tall-Bowl then and I leave it to you if it ain't the truth.

Wesley Rugles was just then coming along, and he told me they was a good auto Race—out to Universal, called JOE MARTIN, in which I should get to drive in the SPEEDWAY RACE, FEB. 22. Tomorrow I am going out to see Mr. Martin, and set him down he want to go into the race, and I will see he gets a lot of glory if he wins from Roscoe SARLER, Ralph DE PALMA and Jimmy MURPHY.

SEEKS SAMPLING JOB.
E. E. Klauber came up and said how was I and he gave me a cigar which I am now chewing and I set him for a job sampling his cigars and he says to me that is his job. Ed Calley who used to sell Overland Autos in Sandy Ago and which is now selling tools for the Chi. Pneumatic Tool Co. said me did I want a little game of golf and I told him to get a rep by beating Pat Higgins and Jordo Whalen and Roscoe Sarles.

Geo. Adair and Jack Edwards heard the argument and both come up to see if anyone was dead. They never got no business though because Ed and me is friends and we never really got mad, much.

mister J. Charnus of Fullerton walked in and announced it was raining out in Fullerton and nobody would believe him because he was not wet enough to prove he had been in the rain and I told him if he wanted to win the argument he should jump in the plunge for about 5 minutes.

That would be a good idea too if he got sick with a cold because Dr. Rafe Chaffin and Dr. Ben Fress was both on the job.

POTS LUG TO HAP.

COLIMA MEETS FARRELL.

If Bert Colima and Marty Farrell live up to their predictions for tonight's main event at Vernon the fans will see a battle worth while. Several months ago the two went four rounds with honors practically even but each is confident that he will win tonight's bout with plenty to spare.

The semi-windup will see Harry Casey, a newcomer from Seattle, pitted against Chic Roach, a local slugger who has been putting up some good bouts. They are 138-pounders.

Johnny McManus, clever little 115-pounder, is matched with Tod Morgan in the feature preliminary. McManus dropped a decision to Alex McDonald at Hollywood Friday night and is out to redeem himself. The youngster can box and is a fair puncher.

Other bouts scheduled in order of their appearance are as follows:
Ralph Meyers vs. Young Frank, 125 pounds.
Frank Smith vs. Sailor Vitolo, 115 pounds.
Herb Ryan vs. Jimmy Kramer, 142 pounds.
Baby Blue vs. Jimmy Hackley, 123 pounds.

Just borrowed 2 1/2's from Has O'Connor so we can go to a fashionable Spring St. cafe called the White Lunch.

In the A.M. I will sure go out and get some good news about the speed boys for Ward and will right a letter telling all about it for him to put in the TIMES paper.

Fraternally yours,
SPIKE H.
P.S. Give my love to Harry A. Williams and Jerry Pidge and if you see Bill Henry the ed of the Auto Club's greatest publication, tell him I will see Ward and try to borrow 3 bits to pay back the 2 bits I borrowed from him last week.

GAUDIN BEATS NADI IN FOIL CONTEST.

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
PARIS, Jan. 30.—M. Gaudin, French champion, tonight defeated Nedo Nadi, Italian champion, for what was regarded as the unofficial amateur foil championship of the world. Gaudin scored 28 points against 11 for Nadi. The match was for a purse of $5,000 francs.

Gaudin has contributed the purse to charity and will remain an amateur. Nadi, however, has turned professional and proposes to go to Buenos Aires.

GATES TIRE
The Tire with the Wider and Thicker Tread

Robert A. Gardner, amateur champion in 1915 and the runner-up who lost the British championship in 1920 a seven-hole in his Cyrtl Tooley, is easily one of American amateur golfers. He has won the championship title in their the championship at St. September.

It is only by such a piece such as Gardner's that the amateur golfer can be understood. The amateur golfer is not for a moment to be compared with the professional players only on that basis. Usually think that Bob is a better golfer than G. Gardner, but the average records don't say Gardner seemingly can't win in his forearm.

WEDDING CHIMES.

JACK GILBERT AND LEATRICE JOY WED. REPORT.

By Grace Kingsley.

Score another one for the bow-and-arrow god. The latest pair to worship at his shrine, according to reports, are no less luminous lights of the well-known cinema than Leatrice Joy, one of the stars of "Saturday Night," at the Rialto, and Jack Gilbert of Fox.

The wedding, according to friends to whom the two have confessed, took place at Tijuana about two weeks ago. The pair are shortly to build a home here. The marriage follows a long romance, growing out of a friendship which was begun at the Goldwyn studio some three years ago. At that time Miss Joy had just been added to the Goldwyn forces, and was playing the name part in Reginald Barker's "Bunny Pulls the Strings." Gilbert was a young leading man in another company.

Mr. Gilbert had been married before, but obtained a divorce several months ago. He admitted to the writer, several weeks ago, that he was engaged to Miss Joy. "And she's the most wonderful girl in the world," he said. Evidently he hasn't changed his mind, though it was rumored that the engagement was broken during the wedding. The attachment was, however, founded on real constancy and sincere devotion on both sides and the lovers made up.

Both are numbered among the most promising film stars of the present. Miss Joy is a brilliant young actress, gifted in painting and in music, as well as in acting. At the time she expected to make her living as a painter.

Her rise in the screen world has been built on a series of brilliant roles. Her appearance as De Mille's wife in "The Sign of the Cross" touched a high-water mark in her career. She is now slated to appear at the Rialto in "Manila," which Mr. De Mille will direct on his return from Europe.

Jack Gilbert is the star of a number of Fox features, and is considered one of the finest of the younger actors.

Tijuana would appear to be the Green of filmdom, this being the second marriage there lately. Frank Mayo and Dagmar Godowsky were wed in the Mexican City a few months ago.

NUTS AND SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE.

Nuts of all ages flourish on the Orpheum comedy tree this week; and they're all bound to turn out to be dough-nuts, too. Every one of them is a kale coaser for the box office.

Eddie Foy and his bunch of off-springs are in the coveted "H" spot, and the kids don't rely on the family name for their success. From Baby Irving to Charles, to the little sing and dance their way into your hearts.

"It took me a long while to assemble this show," says Eddie, "but more credit every year."

"Little Mary and sister Madeline are growing up into a very fascinating pair of bambinos. Of course, there are style, Eddie's own moist smile and voice, and the background. It's a capital turn."

Kimpin among the nuts is Frank Kellam, with his hilariously funny mugging, dancing and singing, while his little pet Venus partner, Patricia O'Dare, furnishes the feeding, the looks and the voice. They rip it open with a riot.

Another nut combination that wrecks the house is that of De Haven and Nice, in their "Follies of 1776." There should be seen and not heard, however, as while their mugging and kidding are the funniest on record, really they King Charles Brothers Chasing Bubbles dance, their jokes don't get them so much.

Another nut rings the bell is Frank Farron in characterizations and imitations.

One of the greatest novelties the Orpheum has had seen is the offer by Fred Lindsay, from Australia, billed as sportsman and big game hunter. His chief stunt is wrestling and cracking whips, with which he flicks out lighted candles, cigarettes, even matches, while the snap sounds ominous. We in the front row were certain which he flicks out lighted candles, cigarettes, even matches, while the snap sounds ominous. We in the front row were certain which he flicks out lighted candles, cigarettes, even matches, while the snap sounds ominous.

He would make a hit by having them snap and crackle and pop.

Ruth Howell Duo opens proceedings with a thrilling and easy-to-look-at aerial revue; while Moon and Pye and Ed Janka and company, held over from last week, repeat their bull-eye successes.

WILL MORRISSEY IS YET DANCIN' AROUND.

The war may be passed as a theatrical subject in theory, but you don't feel that way about it when you see Will Morrissey's "Toot Sweet," at the Broadway Pantages.

Will Morrissey naturally holds the whole show in the palm of his hand, and his wit splices the show throughout. His impersonation of the very proper Y.M.C.A. officer-in-charge is good-naturedly satirical.

But France was never like that, or none of our boys would have come home! Trifle Grant alone could have kept 'em there.

There are a Y.M.C.A. Hut entertainment, which gives the Avalon Trio a chance to warble and tinkle their banjos and young dancer from Ruth St. Denis school and dances, and a chance to dance a Hindoo dance, which she does very nicely; and there's a cafe scene in which Paisley Noon, his kinsmen, and Kay Hawley and Cecil Bruner perform a swift Apache number, with the chorus trotting on for an encore.

Sybil Chorus has taken the place of Helen Bolton, and proves an excellent substitute, as she's a neat dancer as well as a good singer. The show really needs more good voices, however.

Roy Harber is the only voice besides Miss Bacon's in the show. His is a very beautiful one, and the song "Rise of Verdun," with accompanying tableaux, was vividly effective.

Chuck Relner came on for a monologue, but seemed afflicted with a hemorrhage of words and a stoppage of ideas. However, no doubt he will get better material before today's performance, and his delivery is excellent.

The chorus is the peachiest in the musical comedy orchard.

In "Hail the Woman," Showing at Mission.

TWO NEW STORIES ENLIVEN PROGRAM.

Jim Reynolds gets most of the laughs at Loew's State this week.

He actually has a couple of stories that bear all the earmarks of newness, and his handling of those you have heard before in deft enough make-up to make you chuckle before you have time to think it over.

The equestrian offering of Holland Dockfill Company contains two big white horses, for whom one feels a little sorry. Not that they show any signs of ill-treatment, but they are such nice, fat, dignified looking beasts that it does seem a shame they should be compelled to make fools of themselves for people to laugh at.

Their forbearance, however, seems to be thinking that the world, as Byron said, is "a bundle of hay; mankind are the asses who pull," and who can blame them?

Harry and Lola Stevens, Joe and Clara Nathan, and the Circus Day Georgia are the other acts. There is no kick to the first two, but in the third there is an element of suspense introduced that makes the act very interesting.

The feature photoplay, "Bring Him In," is a Royal Northwest Mounted Police story, and is world's better than most of them. It was explained why Dr. John Ford sees himself getting up from his bed to commit a murder, which has already been committed, the thing would be practically free from loose ends, and thoroughly enjoyable.

But this scene is puzzling. At first one suspects a psychic twist to the plot; then, when nothing of the sort develops, the scene remains to irritate one with useless conjectures. Probably the thing would be better for the elimination of this visionary passage altogether.

HERBERT VISIT WILL BE REAL MUSIC EVENT

The scheduled visit of Victor Herbert, noted composer, soloist and orchestra conductor in Los Angeles, under the auspices of the West Coast Theaters, Inc., as guest conductor at the Kinema Theater, Monday to Friday, inclusive, Saturday matinee, the end of the week.

They will be in Los Angeles several hours between trains Thursday and Friday.

The repertoire for the first week has now been definitely announced. Opening opera will be "The Damsel" by Tchaikovsky.

It will be followed by "Mermaid" (Dargomizky), "Carmen" (Bizet), "The Barber of Seville" (Rossini), and "Eugen Onegin" (Tchaikovsky).

These operas are to be played on successive nights from Monday to Friday, inclusive. Saturday matinee there will be a performance of "Mermaid," and Saturday night, "Dargomizky," by Napravnik, will be given.

It is already reported that several persons have dislocated their jaws trying to pronounce the names of the various operas and composers. Consequently it seems spots. Moreover, it is an excellent sermon against adopting a life of luxury. This was, at times, a better one, if we hadn't been told at the beginning that that is what it is.

Zeld, the most effective, Barrymore, Margaret Seddon and Frank Shannon following in that order. But the ladies may disagree if they like.

The Jackkwa Brothers, Japanese acrobats, are a good bit more elastic than the average, and they have one balancing stunt that looks easy, but is really a holy terror. You'll know which one it is when you see it.

The "Unwritten Law," Willard Mack's playlet, presented by Landers Stevens, is, one supposes, a good example of a playlet. At any rate, one man gets shot for invading another's domestic territory, and there are some very nice moral maxims, and a perfect com-pertained, puncture-proof clincher at the end, as if the shooting were not enough. So it's probably all right, though there is no characterization, either in lines or acting, and the human value seems problematical.

Harry Lamore brings an act that starts out very well, with some stunts that are a decided novelty, but peters out soon afterward. The Appy Trio give indications of being able to play and sing good music fairly well, but they have not the God-given faculty of making something out of nothing.

CAVIAR OF ART.

Pavlova presents modern classic ballet.

By Edwin Schallert.

Aladdin's witchery, the new magic of scenic effects, a reality and a promise of something unreal—these Pavlova has brought to her public here as an evidence of her genius, and what is more of her artistic daring, in "Dionysus," her most pretentious ballet, last night at Philharmonic Auditorium. It was something totally different. It found the audience, which filled every nook and cranny of the theater, receptive as audiences seldom are to the new and the experimental. There were dissenters, no doubt, but there were many enthusiasts as well.

"Dionysus" represents probably the most advanced phase of the Pavlova art. Strangely enough, its lines are classical. It is one of those strange mixtures of reserve and freedom that are a sign of the modern complex. The music by Tcherophine, or Tcheropin as you please, is in mood similar to that of the sign of the modern complex. The striking thing for the eye in this ballet, is the sudden shift of scene—carried out in the twinkling of an eye by means of the harmonies in lighting. One moment you view a rocky gorge as background; the next you have before you a stretch of sea, with an island in the background. This was, at times, a better one, if we hadn't been told at the beginning that that is what it is.

Zeld, the most effective, Barrymore, Margaret Seddon and Frank Shannon following in that order. But the ladies may disagree if they like.

At any rate, one man gets shot for invading another's domestic territory, and there are some very nice moral maxims, and a perfect com-pertained, puncture-proof clincher at the end, as if the shooting were not enough. So it's probably all right, though there is no characterization, either in lines or acting, and the human value seems problematical.

Harry Lamore brings an act that starts out very well, with some stunts that are a decided novelty, but peters out soon afterward. The Appy Trio give indications of being able to play and sing good music fairly well, but they have not the God-given faculty of making something out of nothing.

The feature photoplay, "Bring Him In," is a Royal Northwest Mounted Police story, and is world's better than most of them. It was explained why Dr. John Ford sees himself getting up from his bed to commit a murder, which has already been committed, the thing would be practically free from loose ends, and thoroughly enjoyable.

But this scene is puzzling. At first one suspects a psychic twist to the plot; then, when nothing of the sort develops, the scene remains to irritate one with useless conjectures. Probably the thing would be better for the elimination of this visionary passage altogether.

PREPARING TO CHOOSE POPE.

Solemn Conclave to Open on Thursday.

Historic Chapel is Ready for Cardinals.

Choir Singer Goes Mad at Requiem Mass.

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

ROME, Jan. 30.—Final preparations were begun today for the convening on Thursday of the solemn conclave at which the cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church will choose a Pope to succeed Benedict XV. The last minute ceremonial will be preceded by three solemn requiem masses, the first of which took place this morning, with the cardinal participating.

The beautiful and historic St. Peter's Basilica, in which the conclave will meet, has already been fitted with the long stalls in which the cardinals will sit while the balloting proceeds. Minute instructions have been given for the performance of the ceremony. It has been prescribed that all prelates excepting cardinals will wear black vestments.

All those who will remain within the Vatican when its doors are closed at the beginning of the election have been summoned to meet in the Sala Regia, adjacent to the St. Peter's Basilica, to take the oath of secrecy. The Sacred College has appointed a commission to examine the credentials of members and attaches. This commission also is charged with selecting guards for the conclave, and the appointment of heralds, plumbers, plasterers, carpenters and other attendants.

Devices have been installed at the entrance of the court yard of St. Peter's so that any articles needed may be sent inside, but their operation must be only in the presence of two witnesses. These devices are in the form of cylinders placed vertically. Opening one of the vertical sections, an object may be placed within and transferred to those in the court yard by revolving the cylinder until the opening is on the inside.

This method of communication will be allowed only between 9 and 11 a.m. and 5 and 7 p.m. Any communication, whether of word or object, must be in the presence of the two witnesses. No reference to these communications must be made to members of the conclave, and any violation of the rule of secrecy is subject to excommunication.

A platform on which the seals for the conclave are placed has been erected. The stalls are covered with delicately embroidered tapestry. An altar is placed against the noted mural painting of Michelangelo's "Last Judgment" and on the altar are six great silver chandeliers. In the center of the platform there is an improvised tomb at which absolution will be given at the solemn requiem masses. Prince Chigi is marshal of the conclave.

POMP UNUSUAL.
The solemn requiem mass in the St. Peter's Basilica this morning furnished a scene of unusual pomp. The noble guards acted as guard of honor for the improvised tomb of the late Pontiff and the Swiss guards composed the escort of honor for the solemn procession of cardinals, archbishops and bishops as they passed through the Sala Regia to the capital.

The tomb erected in the center of the chapel was octagonal in shape with an array of lighted candles on all sides and a replica of the pontifical throne resting on a red plush cushion. The sides of the octagon were adorned with the pontifical arms and the others with phrases glorifying the life of Benedict XV. The Cardinal Secretary of State, Cardinal De Lai, was celebrant, while absolution was imparted by Cardinals Vice Pontifex and Cagliero. The service was attended by delegations from Genoa and Bologna. The Knights of the Sword and Cape and the Knights of the Order of Malta, in full dress uniform, added splendor to the occasion. The members of the diplomatic corps, dressed in black, occupied places before the pews.

CHOIRSTER GOES INSANE.
Suddenly becoming violently insane, a member of the Pontifical choir today created a sensation in the St. Peter's Basilica during the requiem mass for the late Pope Benedict XV by shouting: "Down with the Pope."

He insisted upon leading the procession out of the chapel, preceding the cardinals, and somewhat roughly elbowing Cardinal Yantelli before he was overpowered by the Swiss guards and locked up.

TRIBUTE PAID LATE PONTIFF'S MEMORY.

YOUNG MEN'S INSTITUTE, IN RESOLUTION, PRAISES POPE AS LEADER.

Los Angeles Council, No. 473, Young Men's Institute, has adopted the following resolutions regarding the death of Pope Benedict XV: "Whereas, God in his infinite majesty and goodness has seen fit to take from our midst he who has guided the destiny of his church here on earth, he who has been a course of inspiration to nations and peoples, by his simplicity, his humility, his goodness, his piety, his love for his fellow men, his wisdom, his guiding hand in solving the problems of war and peace.

"And whereas, The Young Men's Institute both by its ritual and its natural love of the ministers whom God has ordained to guide His faithful ones loves to express at all times its faith and its love to those ministers, priests, bishops, archbishops, cardinals and his holiness, the Pope.

Therefore, be it resolved that Los Angeles Council No. 473, Young Men's Institute, in council assembled, do pass the following resolutions: "Be it resolved, that in this unfortunate hour when the world is in mourning for the loss of the church, and the young men who particularly looked to him for guidance and help; lost a loving father, a holy teacher, a wonderful exemplar, and a loyal supporter of all that was good, holy and just; that we express our sincere sympathy to his lordship, the OLDEST MAN IN ST. LOUIS DIES.

Simon Sobelman, Aged 111 Years, is Survived by Four Generations.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
ST. LOUIS (Mo.), Jan. 30.—Simon Sobelman, 111 years old, said to have been the oldest man in St. Louis, died today from a complication of ailments superinduced by old age. He is survived by four generations.

His death was announced by the bishop, and through him to the Sacred College at Rome on the loss of the successor of St. Peter. We pray that his soul may rest in peace.

"Be it also resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the pages of The Tidings, The Southern Cross, and the leading daily newspapers of Los Angeles.

"And lastly, may we say that our holy leader by his death after a holy life, teaches us in the immortal words of the poet supplemented by a thought of a holy death.

"Death wounds to cure; we fall, we rise, we reign, Spring from our fetters, fasten in the shackles of Eden withers in our sight.

Death gives us more than was Eden lost. This King of terrors is the Prince of Peace.

The resolutions are signed by Anthony Schwamm, Past Grand President, Thomas Connolly, second Grand Vice-President, Vincent Cunningham, President, and Ed Purpus, Past President, as a committee of the council.

WOMAN HERE SUPERIOR TO PARIS SISTER

Frenchman Astounded by Independence of American Fair Sex.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—The American woman marches down the street as if she owned the town, Jules Bois, president of the French Society of Physical Research, said in an address here yesterday. "She really feels superior to men," he added. "I was astounded when I came to America a few weeks ago. In Europe Freud declared women are handicapped by an inferiority complex, that is they feel a deficiency when competing in the world of men. That may be true in Europe, but it certainly is not true here. They have what I would describe as the superiority complex. Women here will go far."

Neumes made by the elevated trains, coupled with the general love for jazz music and entertainments on the part of the modern girl were reasons given by M. Bois for the death of Joan of Arc today.

NICKEL FARES STAY IN STATE CAPITAL.

RAIL COMMISSION ORDERS 5-CENT AND ONE-MAN CARS.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30.—Five-cent street car fares in Sacramento will continue, the Railroad Commission announced today, the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, which operates a traction system there, having filed a tariff providing for that rate.

One-man street cars also will go into operation in Sacramento, the commission having ruled last December that a 5-cent fare could continue only if these were installed. Had former conditions remained, according to the commission, a 7-cent fare must be allowed the company. Accordingly, the city repealed an ordinance for permitting the use of one-man cars.

Shanton admitted in the letter that this evidence had disappeared from his custody.

WILL SEEK AID FOR HAWAIIANS.

Commission Would Rehabilitate Dying Race.

Will Ask Government Help in Financing.

Propose Settlement Farms on California Basis.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

HONOLULU (T. H.) Dec. 15.—Financial aid of the Federal government will be sought in the movement to rehabilitate the vanishing Hawaiian race, according to a decision reached by the Hawaiian Homes Commission appointed to carry out the project in accordance with the act of Congress.

George P. Cooke, executive secretary of the commission, conferred with Col. C. H. Birdsey, chief topographical engineer of the Department of the Interior, while the latter was here inspecting topographical work over the prospect of Federal aid in developing irrigation for the settlement farms on Molokai, the larger island, where the initial step toward rehabilitation will be taken.

The cost of the irrigation system is estimated at not less than $3,000,000 by Jorgen Jorgensen, commission engineer. It will necessitate 100,000 feet of tunneling through the volcanic structure of Molokai and presents an additional problem to the commission, for Jorgensen stated that the work could be done only by Japanese and the employment of alien labor by the commission is forbidden by the house act. He recommended that the commission should take measures to obtain permission to employ Japanese labor, but the commission has taken no action as yet.

Members of the faculty of the University of Hawaii are engaged in making a survey of marketing and food conditions in the territory for the benefit of the commission and its wards. The survey results will be used as a guide to indicate what crops should be raised by the settlers.

Prof. Elwood Mead, head of the college of agriculture of the University of California, has consented to come to Hawaii in May to advise the commission, Cooke announced. Dr. Mead has acted as the head of the California State farm development board and rendered valuable assistance in the Hawaiian rehabilitation project.

The grounds, comprising practically 1½ acres, improved and in excellent condition, with about 50 orange trees, 6 avocados, a family orchard, rare trees and shrubbery, extensive lawns with an underground sprinkler system, splendid vegetable garden, chicken runs, etc. The house is unusually attractive. The downstairs arrangement is both unique and commodious. The spacious living-room is finished in ivory with hand-decorated cornices and a massive fireplace of Batchelder tile. The den and music rooms are wonderfully artistic while the dining-room, breakfast-room and kitchen create a cheerful atmosphere. Two large bedrooms and toilets cover the first floor. Upstairs—two exceptionally large and attractive bedrooms, one with 22 windows, which has separate lavatory and toilet; the other bedroom, about 23x15, has large cedar closet, dressing-room and tiled bath.

How Safe Is Your Safe Deposit Box?

The powerful vaults of modern banks furnish probably as good physical protection against the loss of valuables as can be found. But is it safe to rely on physical protection alone? Recently in Chicago, the guards in a vault were overpowered by thieves, who got away with hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of property belonging to people who had rented safety deposit boxes. Within the past few months in this and other states vault doors have been burned through with acetylene torches and the deposit boxes forced open with cold chisels. The resulting losses to the depositors have been appalling, in some cases causing absolute poverty.

Bank Is Rarely Liable
A bank is held legally liable for a loss of this sort only when it can be proved guilty of negligence. Banks are not often found negligent. Can you afford to run the risk of having your valuables stolen by one of the many desperate rogues who are daily becoming more and more daring?

Safe Deposit Box insurance, which protects you against loss by burglary and robbery, supplements the physical protection afforded by the bank and makes you one hundred per cent secure. The cost is almost negligible when compared with the disastrous consequences of possible loss.

Our burglary department will render you prompt, careful and confidential service in furnishing this class of protection. Write or phone for the particulars.

An American wireless service from China to the entire Orient and the United States is virtually assured by the steadfast determination of the State Department that no amount of protests can prevent the operation and maintenance near Peking of the plant of the Federal Telegraph Company, a California corporation.

R. P. Schwerin, president of the company, has been in Washington for several weeks and with the aid of the State Department and the personal interest of Secretary Hughes has overcome the opposition of the Japanese, of Great Britain and of Denmark. Each of the nations made objection on different grounds, but all without effect.

JANITOR UNION SENDS THREATS VIA MAIL
PROSECUTING ATTORNEY WARNED AGAINST ANY VIOLATION OF ACTIVITY.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Just take a fool's advice and don't prosecute the janitors' union too hard, said a letter received by Edwin J. Raber, who is chief of the attorneys prosecuting officials of the union for conspiracy and extortion, enforced by the liberal use of bombs and slugs.

"For every conviction you secure," continues the anonymous letter, "there will be a funeral in the State's Attorney's office. Judge Landis or no other judge can tell us to work for what wages they see fit."

The State gained a strong point today when the court admitted an agreement, signed in a raid of the janitors' union headquarters, showing the plan for assassination of judges against all owners and tenants. This plainly rivets the charge of conspiracy.

The defense sprung a surprise by refusing to offer any evidence after the State rested this morning. The defense claims the State has failed to prove the commission of any crime.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Elizabeth Hill, Chicago girl, refused to accept tips while working as a waitress in a railway restaurant. She assured her patrons that she was being paid for her work and they were entitled to courteous and prompt service without paying an additional fee.

As a result she is now the owner of $10,000 cash and 1000 acres of Nebraska's best grazing land. Elizabeth used to sling hash and sell patrons the "coffe-and" in a depot restaurant at Council Bluffs, Iowa. She came to Chicago from a small Massachusetts town and worked in various restaurants here before proceeding to Iowa.

Among her patrons was "Old Man" Denter, used to be a rancher of Western Nebraska. On his trips to and from Chicago, selling many carloads of cattle, he invariably stopped at the Council Bluffs depot restaurant, and had Elizabeth wait upon him. He always tried to give her a tip, but it was always returned. One time he mailed her a $100 bill and she mailed it right back.

TENSENESS IN EUROPE EASES.
Britain and France Agree on Reparations.
Will Stop Exportation of German Capital.
Armies to Stay on the Rhine for Present.

(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
PARIS, Jan. 29.—The tenseness of relations between France and England has relaxed with the agreement on Germany. This provides that further limitation and exportation of capital in Germany must stop and that the budget must be balanced under Allied supervision.

These measures are vital to the British Empire as her trade would collapse if subjected much longer to the tariff competition which has been facilitated by the depreciation of the mark. France, on the other hand, could maintain herself with comparative prosperity by virtue of her agricultural resources supplemented by deliveries in kind from Germany. The suggested compromise for 1922 includes 750,000,000 marks in gold and 1,250,000,000 in raw materials as reparations payments.

Former Minister of Devastated Territories Loucheur estimates France can absorb 800,000,000 gold marks worth of building materials in addition to coal this year while next year her capacity will increase to 1,000,000,000 gold marks.

ARMIES STAY ON RHINE.
To make certain of the execution of the treaty the armies will stay on the Rhine until indemnification is assured or until an international guarantee is given for neutralization of the eastern frontier.

While foreign affairs are still in an uncertain phase a determined effort is being made to bring back the prewar order of economy into public expenditures. Sentiment generally upholds the present cost of France's military and naval establishment amounting to 4,800,000,000 francs on the theory that without these means of coercion it would have been impossible to obtain reparation for the armies of occupation or to negotiate reparations bonds in neutral markets.

PREPAREDNESS COSTLY.
The prewar cost of preparedness totaled 3,000,000,000 gold francs out of a budget of 8,000,000,000, the national debt requiring 3,400,000,000 and civil administration the remaining 2,000,000,000. The second item has now swollen to 13,000,000,000, administration to 9,000,000,000 due to the war and increased living costs.

Considering the rise in prices to three and a half times the normal level, it is realized that economies of several billions should be possible through the deduction of a number of government officials. The latter numbered 750,000 employees in the autumn of 1920, but 600,000 have been reduced to 400,000 now. By July another 50,000 will be released, saving the treasury a billion francs annually. Economically, the reduction of the normal number of 540,000 will be effected as population has been stationary for the last decade.

TO REORGANIZE RAILWAYS.
The post constructive economy includes reorganization of the five great railway systems and the approaching abandonment of the state-owned western lines. With the railways suffering a deficit of 2,500,000,000 francs, which had to be met by the state, it became urgent that a new construction be which, while relieving the government of further deficits would allow the companies a free hand in charging an amount that the traffic would stand. The new arrangement is now effective, but as it does not include the state railways a new commission was appointed to deliberate on their future regime, which has been unsettled since 1918.

By a vote of 31 to 10, it was decided to rent these lines to a company having $40,000,000 in stock, for thirty-four years. Certain questions still remain to be decided before Parliament considers the measure, the most important being the purchase of the small branch lines by neighboring systems.

ALL THE GIRLS WILL REFUSE TIPS NOW.
WAITRESS GETS $10,000 AND LAND FROM PLEASANT AND AGED PATRON.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Elizabeth Hill, Chicago girl, refused to accept tips while working as a waitress in a railway restaurant. She assured her patrons that she was being paid for her work and they were entitled to courteous and prompt service without paying an additional fee.

As a result she is now the owner of $10,000 cash and 1000 acres of Nebraska's best grazing land. Elizabeth used to sling hash and sell patrons the "coffe-and" in a depot restaurant at Council Bluffs, Iowa. She came to Chicago from a small Massachusetts town and worked in various restaurants here before proceeding to Iowa.

Among her patrons was "Old Man" Denter, used to be a rancher of Western Nebraska. On his trips to and from Chicago, selling many carloads of cattle, he invariably stopped at the Council Bluffs depot restaurant, and had Elizabeth wait upon him. He always tried to give her a tip, but it was always returned. One time he mailed her a $100 bill and she mailed it right back.

Last week she received a letter from him saying he was going back to England to spend his remaining days. You deserve a better fate than awaiting a restaurant counter," it said. "You are a real American and the only person who ever refused my tips."

"In the hills of Derwentshire I have a wife and daughter buried. In memory of them and with my best wishes for the future, I beg you to accept these remembrances."

The letter contained a deed for 1000 acres and a check for $10,000, all made out to Miss Hill. This time she accepted, for the deed was to 5000 ac. and she could not return the line.

YESTERDAY ON THE HOME EXCHANGE.
Gold mining stocks soared to record heights on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday. Outman United's advance was one of the most sensational witnessed on the local exchange in years. This stock, which sold for 1 cent a year ago, advanced 18 cents over the week end to an opening at 94. Excited bidding then rushed it up to a peak price of $1.33, with a firm close at $1.24, a net gain of 48 cents. This enthusiasm spread like wildfire and most of the other Outman stocks scored record-breaking advances for the day. United American jumped 9 1/2 cents to 45; Teulidre 6 cents to 34; Gold Dust 1 1/2 to 2 1/2; Gold Ore 4 to 5 cents; Big Jim Construction 5 cents to 8 and Boundary Cone 1 1/2 to 2.

There was a violent flurry in United Western, which collapsed after the stock touched 30 cents. The closing price was 12 cents, a net loss of 4 cents. United Eastern was weaker, closing 6 cents off at 2.02. Tom Reed also found a soft market, declining 1 1/2 cents to $3 1/2. Republic Petroleum gained 1 1/2 cents, closing at $6. Southern California Edison showed some strength and closed at 95, a 1-4 point gain.

DAILY TRADE TALK.

Taking Bearings After One Month's Voyage; Review of Business Conditions.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

With January ready for the discard big and little business is looking over the battlefield. The first month of the year is important as a pathfinder, but it is scarcely pivotal because it also involves the clearing away of a good deal of the old year-end wreckage.

In most lines in Los Angeles there was an increased volume over the corresponding month last year. This is true of retail trade, where the turnover has been better than average, with a slightly less margin of profit. The stock market has undergone a decided revival, and during the past few days renewed activity in the gold lists has resulted in one of the liveliest exchanges in recent months. In bonds and other investment securities there has been a well sustained demand and the total reinvested as well as new capital involved is large.

While the severe cold snap had a beneficial effect upon trade, especially winter garments, there has been a very heavy potential loss to the citrus industry, which made itself felt in regular channels later in the year.

The unemployment situation appears to be well in hand, and estimates fail to indicate more than a seasonal increase in this regard. Some manufacturing plants have speeded up; spring orders are coming in satisfactorily, and the local outlook, except in the citrus industry, is cheerful. Collections in most instances come under the "fair" classification, a decline which is also seasonal.

BUSINESS IS GROWING. At this crossroads it looks as though the chief business of Los Angeles during 1922 will continue to be building to meet the requirements forced upon her by population growth. Building permits for the month are far ahead of those of a year ago, and tentative plans, both for residence and business construction, show no signs of diminution.

The oil industry will continue its prosperous way punctuated by intermittent suggestions of exhaustion followed in due course by news of new fields and the bringing in of gushers. New demand for fuel is being made daily. Sir Charles Greenway, in a recent issue of Lloyd's List, states that the corner has been turned and that "the talk about the approach of exhaustion of the world's supplies of petroleum" was created for political purposes, and we were soon treated to the amusing spectacle of the men who created this bogey, forced in almost the same breath to issue warnings against the dangers of overproduction.

With oil production rapidly working back to normal, and with other normal points with building programs more extensive than ever, with a 1922 budget of $2,500,000 announced by the Southern California Edison Company over and above its operating distribution, making a total expenditure for the year of around $4,000,000; with other great development projects under way, with a growing tide of travel set in this direction, with plenty of rain, and with cross assured, there is a very substantial basis for the 1922 forecast. Los Angeles will continue to be the white spot, or, at least, a white spot, for reports from other parts of the country indicate a gradual clearing of the business map.

THE AUTO STRAW. Southern California continues to take more than its share of the automobile output, even after discounting the seasonal difference which naturally slows down placement in the East and Middle West. Renewal of auto licenses are coming in faster than last year, it is said, and there appears to be plenty of funds available for this type of investment, although the deferred payment plan is in favor. Used cars are being disposed of on much lower levels than formerly, but in this phase of the industry alone there is a monthly turnover running into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

While the output of cars in 1921 was 24 per cent below that of 1920, the Southern California consumption increased just about as much. Of the 1921 output 1,535,000 were passenger cars and 145,000 were trucks. These figures show a wholesale value of $1,222,350,000. Total motor-vehicle registrations approximately 10,000,000, of which about 8,000,000 are passenger cars and 2,000,000 trucks. Farmers are estimated to be the owners of something like 3,000,000 of these vehicles, 2,850,000 being passenger cars and 150,000 trucks. Approximately 134,400,000 tons of farm products were hauled by motor transport last year. It is estimated that 5,000,000 passenger cars were carried by motor cars, and more than 1,000,000,000 tons of freight were hauled by motor trucks in 1921. There are 103 passenger-car factories and 140 truck plants located in thirty-two States of the United States. About 334,000 employees are engaged in automobile and truck manufacture. According to the Bureau of Census the automotive industry ranks third among all manufactures. The Federal government collected $115,548,000 in excise taxes from the motor industry in 1921 and motorists paid $108,012,000 to State governments in license fees. Miscellaneous taxes approximated $5,000,000 brought total taxes paid to $238,560,000. Export trade slumped heavily last year, especially 21,000 passenger cars, valued at $33,712,208 were shipped out of the country, compared with 141,477 valued at $164,342,919 in the previous year. Not quite 8000 motor trucks, valued at $11,457,416 were exported in 1921, compared with 25,233, valued at $47,816,740, in 1920. American motors went to 114 countries during the year, the same number as in 1920. Domestic production of gasoline last year approximated 5,360,614,000 gallons and output, slightly exceeded 4,500,000,000 gallons. Motor vehicles accounted for nearly 25 per cent of the gasoline used last year, compared with 20 per cent of the lubricating oil refined. There are in the United States more than 38,000 passenger automobile dealers, nearly 35,000 motor-truck dealers, 50,000 garages and 58,500 repair shops.

STOCKS ABSORBED.

The general situation as seen by reviewers is tinged with more optimism than was in evidence during the last quarter in 1921. The National Bank of Commerce of New York says, for instance, that the real basis for confidence in the course of business in 1922 is now clear, and that notwithstanding the severe depression during the past year, purchases by individuals in output of many classes of physical volume were sufficient to absorb, to a large extent, accumulated stocks, so that a gradual increase in output of many classes of manufactures may be expected. Future needs must be supplied primarily from current production. This means greater business activity and explains the expansion in manufactures which has taken place in recent weeks.

Henry Clews discusses the money situation which, he says, continues to be encouraging, noting as it does a continuously high ratio of reserves in the Federal Reserve System, with abundant accommodation for legitimate business, at reasonable rates. The report of the Agricultural Commission of Inquiry, appointed by Congress last summer, although it offers familiar criticisms upon Federal reserve policy during the boom period after the armistice, rejects the ordinary and baseless complaints concerning our banking system—an attitude which is well appreciated by the public. The commission in question was appointed with the express intent of subjecting present banking methods to attack.

Though the uncertainty concerning the prospect of an international conference to discuss economic questions still continues to exert an unfavorable influence upon exchange rates, quotations have been unusually steady during the past week, and in the absence of unfavorable developments further improvement is looked for.

INVENTORIES AND CASH.

McDonnell & Co. venture to predict that the time is passing when a balance sheet which shows large amounts of cash on hand and small inventories will be considered, in the speculative community, as a sign of sound business acumen. When commodity prices were at the peak, the business man who piled up cash and a highly liquid condition displayed his foresight and sound judgment. But that state of affairs has ceased to exist.

IN A NUTSHELL.

WHO? Single persons who had net income of $1000 or more, or gross income of $5000 or more. Married couples who had net income of $2000 or more, or gross income of $5000 or more.

WHEN? March 15, 1922, is final date for filing returns and making first payments.

WHERE? Collector of internal revenue for the district in which the person lives or has his principal place of business.

HOW? Full directions on Form 1040A and Form 1040; also the law and regulations.

WHAT? Four per cent normal tax on taxable income up to $4000 in excess of exemption; 8 per cent normal tax on balance of taxable income; surtax from 1 per cent to 65 per cent on net incomes over $5000 for the year 1921.

INCOME TAX FACTS.

Thousands of letters have reached the Bureau of Internal Revenue relative to changes in revenue legislation. Taxpayers desire to know the benefits to which they are entitled under the Revenue Act of 1921 by way of increased exemptions, lowered surtaxes, and other deductions for business expenses, losses, contributions and bad debts. The purpose of the Bureau of Internal Revenue is to answer the questions presented in a series of newspaper statements, of which this is the first. Taxpayers are advised to preserve the articles as they appear, in order that when they begin preparation of their income-tax returns for the year 1921 they may have before them a comprehensive summary of the requirements of the new revenue act.

To the person of moderate income, probably the most important change is in the exemptions, or credits. Under the revenue act of 1921 a married person or head of a family whose net income for 1921 was $5000 or less is allowed a personal exemption of $2500. If the net income is more than $5000 the exemption is $2000. The exemption allowed a married person or head of a family under the Revenue Act of 1913 was $2000, regardless of the amount of net income. Exemptions for dependents, also, are increased from $500 to $450. Thus, a married man with three children, whose net income for 1921 was $4000, will pay this year an income tax of $12. On the same income for 1920 he paid a tax of $54.

Husband and wife living together receive but one personal exemption ($2500 or $2000 as the case may be.) If they make separate returns, the exemption may be taken by either or divided between them.

NORMAL TAX. To overcome the disparity in the normal tax in the case of two taxpayers, one of whom is just within the lower exemption of $2000 (applying to income of more than $5000) and the other just within the higher exemption of $2500 (applying to income of $5000 or less), the law provides that the reduction of the personal exemption for married persons and heads of families from $2500 to $2000 in such cases shall not operate to increase the tax which would be payable if the exemption were $2500 by more than the amount of net income in excess of $5000. For example, a married man had a net income for 1921 of $5000. Without the benefit of the above provision, his tax, assuming he had no dependents, would be $120.24 ($5000 less $2000 equaling $3000 at 4 per cent.) His actual tax is $106.24 ($5000 less $2500 equaling $2500 at 4 per cent, or $100.24, plus $6, the amount by which his net income exceeds $5000.)

There is no change in the exemption of $1000 for a single person or a married person not living with husband or wife. Non-resident aliens are allowed a specific exemption of $1000, regardless of their marital status, and are allowed no exemption for dependents.

SURTAUX RATES. Taxpayers are reminded that the surtax rates, which apply only to net income in excess of $5000, also are unchanged for the year 1921. Letters received by the bureau indicate the impression in the minds of the writers that the lowered surtax rates are applicable to net income for the calendar year 1921. Under the Revenue Act of 1921, the surtax rates for that year range from 1 per cent on the amount of net income between $5000 and $6000 to 65 per cent on the amount of net income in excess of $10,000. For the calendar year 1922, the surtax rates range from 1 per cent on the amount of net income between $5000 and $10,000, to 65 per cent on net income in excess of $10,000.

BUSINESS NEWS.

The eastern shoe manufacturers who specialize in the production of cheap and popular-priced footwear are working to capacity, according to Emil Olcovich, a local shoe dealer, who is in close touch with eastern market conditions. The makers of high-class shoes, however, have practically closed down at present and few are turning out more than 50 per cent of capacity. This fact illustrates the present trend of the public taste in shoe-buying, according to Mr. Olcovich. The demand is good, but only for lower-priced stock. The shoe business in Los Angeles has been quiet this month with sale volume lower than last January. Dealers expect business to pick up materially as the season advances.

MUNICIPAL SALES.

The weather and the prices paid at municipal bond sales often have a very close affinity, said a Los Angeles investment banker yesterday. Bids on the municipal issues of outlying towns are usually low, and the price of the bonds of the bond houses. When the weather is stormy these representatives think twice before venturing out on a long excursion into the hinterland to buy a small bond issue. Consequently on bad days, the bids are few in number and the prices often lower than they would have been otherwise. One local bond house is said to have gambled on the weather yesterday and reduced its bid on the Colton bonds. Whether or not the sun's unexpected appearance caused them to lose this issue was not disclosed.

REDISCOUNT RATE.

The reduction of the rediscount rate in the Twelfth Federal Reserve District last week to 4 1/2 per cent has had a decided effect upon the local market. The rate in this district on a parity with the New York, Boston and Philadelphia banks in having the lowest rate in the country. All the other Federal reserve banks are still on a 5 per cent basis, signifying that liquidation has not progressed so far in those districts.

COLTON BOND SALE.

Colton Union High School District sold $250,000 of 6 per cent serial bonds, due from 1923 to 1944, yesterday to a syndicate composed of Cynon Peirce & Company, the National City Company, and Hunter, Lullin & Company. A premium of $17,952 was paid, putting the purchase on an interest basis of approximately 5 1/2 per cent.

NEW RAIL ISSUE.

An issue of $50,000,000 Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad first refunding 5 per cent bonds, due 1971, was offered yesterday at 97 by a syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan & Company, the First National Bank of New York, and the National City Company. The bonds are callable after 1942 at 107 1/2, after 1952 at 108, and from 1962 until maturity at 102. Ever during 1921, the road earned four times interest charges, according to the underwriters, who emphasize this factor of safety.

FOOD IN STORAGE.

Los Angeles storage supplies were practically unchanged in quantity last week and the seasonal declines appear to have run their course. Totals of the various commodities held in local warehouses, as given in yesterday's report, are: eggs, 1460 cases, butter, 169,493 pounds, cheese 746,318 pounds, apples 117,920 boxes, potatoes, 14,700 sacks, and onions, 8275 sacks. Butter and onions are the only commodities that show decrease in quantity since they held a year ago at this time.

SALES TAX DUE.

Today is the last day to file returns and pay all Federal sales taxes for December, 1921.

WILDCAT DRILLING.

Four companies organized under a unit pooling agreement are making good progress in the sinking of four wells on the Irvine ranch, an oil wildcat territory adjacent to Balboa and Newport, according to a report from Ben F. Gray, active manager of the group. These companies, the first of which was organized last July, are: Wucherer-Gray Oil Co.; W. A. G. Oil Co.; Wucherer-Gray-Rounsville Oil and Petroleum Co., and the San Joaquin Hills Oil Co. No. 1 at 2052 feet is reported in the shale; No. 3 at 1883 feet was drilled through the cement last Friday and is said to have shown pronounced evidence of gas; No. 2 is down to 2390 feet and No. 4 to 270 feet.

OPPORTUNITIES IN MUNICIPAL BONDS

Municipal bond buyers, recalling that within the past year they have had opportunities to purchase the very highest grade municipal bonds at prices to yield 5 1/2 to 6 per cent, are inclined to regard their opportunities in municipal bonds as past. This is not true, for today, even in spite of recent substantial advancements, municipal bonds are selling much below the average for 30 years—and doubtless much below the indicated level of the coming year.

If you are in funds for investment at the present time consider the following issues of high grade municipal bonds:

FOREIGN EXCHANGE RISES.

Conditions on New York Market Show Improvement in British Economic Situation, Says Noyes.

BY ALEXANDER DANA NOYES.
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The movement of foreign interest and significance on today's financial markets was the rise in the foreign exchange. With stock down to the smallest of the year and the bond market repeating its recent uncertain drift of prices, the emphatic advance of 4 cents in sterling exchange attracted particular attention.

At 4.23 1-4 the day's rate was 18 cents above the lowest quotation of the present month. It was 4 1-8 cents above last year's highest rate and 75 cents above its lowest; no such rate as today's had been touched since the middle of August, 1919.

ENGLAND'S IMPROVEMENT.

These comparisons indicate evidently enough real and great improvement of England's economic position since sterling touched $3.16 in February, 1920, or since it sold at $3.55 last July. Even such people (and there seems to be plenty of them) who are skeptical as to actual economic recovery admit that sentimental influences, even on foreign exchange, of the decline in British labor radicalism and the settlement with Ireland. But what puzzle such observers is this extraordinarily rapid enhancement of sterling values at a time when the two influences which were commonly assigned as the immediate cause for the rise from $4.24 last December—the post-war conference and the proposed German moratorium—have visibly lost power. Neither of these proposals is working out according to the expectations of that time. The most plausible explanation lies in the fact that the economic recovery which has occurred already points pretty surely to further progress in the same direction. But there is also the tangible evidence of the very great change in Europe's foreign trade balance. The surplus of our exports in 1921 over imports in our trade with England was $408,000,000 more than in 1920 and $1,628,000,000 less than in 1919. The balance against France in our foreign trade for the same amount was $427,000,000 less last year than the year before.

MAY WHEAT CLIMBS.

A rise in wheat for May delivery to a price of 12 cents a bushel above the month's low figure—today's price was the highest since the middle of October—suggested again the possibility that the rabble of speculators may have misjudged the real supply and demand position. On the other hand, cotton prices broke violently, even from their previous low level, again indicating the attitude of consumers in the textile trade, but probably reflecting also sales by speculative holders who had bought cotton prematurely on the department's 1,500,000 bale underestimate of the crop. Today's price of 14.45 cents a pound reached by spot cotton had not been touched since the end of August. The price was 21.55 at the end of September.

WILL TRANSFER WAR VETERANS.

Invalids at Phoenix Ordered to Camp Kearny.

Woman Picket Found Guilty by Court at Globe.

Chicago Firm Takes Option on Land at Prescott.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.)
PHOENIX, Jan. 30.—Orders have been received for the transfer from Phoenix to Camp Kearny and other military sanitariums of the 125 tubercular veterans, now cared for here in three hospitals. Only ten beds will be retained at this place. The transfer has been made by the Chamber of Commerce and by medical officers of the American Legion and Disabled Veterans of the World War. The patients also are to be against the proposed move, as many of them are showing decided betterment of conditions and many have formed local business ties, while others have bought homes and are going to work. By George H. Wadsworth, a late report from a government official to the effect that Southern Arizona sanitariums are absolutely in error. He says: "No climate in the country is so truly beneficial as this. It is the only place in the world where the climate is so perfect, fully one-half of the 100 men in the Phoenix sanitarium will remain at their own expense."

FEMALE PICKET GUILTY.
GLOBE (Ariz.) Jan. 30.—A jury in the Police Court with twenty minutes after the case had been put in its hands found a verdict of guilty against Frankie Quinn, a female picket, who had been stationed by the Culinary Workers' Union in front of the boycotted Suddick cafe. The woman was charged with disturbance of the peace, this consisting in calling Charles See, a prospective restaurant patron, "a damned scoundrel." C. C. Fairde demanded infliction of the severest penalty under the law, calling the offense one of gross indecency and a breach of the peace. The attorney for the defense claimed that the offense had not been committed and that the woman was "frame-up" by the city police. Police Justice W. D. Moore fined the woman $100. Announcement was made of appeal to the Superior Court.

The case is of added importance, in view of the fact that the Supreme Court of the United States lately decided against the Arizona laws that permit "peaceful picketing."

CASIDY CHECKS UP.
Prohibition Director M. J. Cassidy appears to have started upon a policy of checking up the work of Arizona sheriffs in the suppression of the rum traffic. To Federal officers here he lately telephoned that he had drawn off a list of sheriffs in the fourteen counties and had ranked them according to efficiency. At the head of the list are Sheriff Kinsey of Gila and John Montgomery of Maricopa. Cassidy said that these are the only sheriffs in the State whose records in the enforcement of prohibition had been satisfactory. County attorneys are reported to have been "shamefully inefficient" in the enforcement of the law and in prosecuting offenders, and to have not done their best to suppress bootlegging and moonshining. It is threatened that the names and records of the county attorneys will be published.

C. C. Reeves of Holtville, Cal., is here to join his daughter, but the happy reunion is prevented by the unhappy fact that he has forgotten his daughter's name. He now remembers that her first name was Margarette, but it happens that a few months ago, in Los Angeles, he married a young mechanic, with whom she came to Globe, where the husband is assumed to have employment. By no course of mental treatment that here would be applied was he assisted in remembering the daughter's married name, and so he was compelled to admit his infirmity and to advertise for her in the Daily Record.

MULE IN GARAGE.

There was amusements among the employees of the Overland garage when the doors were unlocked this morning. In the dark, a mule, not "white mule," but dark in color. The proprietor said the only negro he had seen must have been the previous night, while he was working on the mule and had had the front door open. No noise was heard from within the shop before the door was opened. The mule was found in a vegetable peddler, W. W. Wooten, who told that the animal had bolted in an attack of colic, while being worked over by a veterinarian. So there is presumption that its last strength was devoted to entrance of the open garage, where the working mule yawned.

BUTTS WILLIAMSON LAND.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.)
PRESCOTT, Jan. 30.—W. J. Butts, representing the Snyder Preserve Company of Chicago, has taken an option on 5000 acres of land in Williamson Valley, west of Prescott, whereon to raise domestic stock and to erect and operate a pulp factory that may employ more than 100 men. Final action is to be taken about March 1, after inspection by W. G. Street, superintendent of the corporation. The land lies under the new Williamson Valley irrigation project, for which a dam has been constructed.

TO RETAIN CAMP.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.)
DOUGLAS, Jan. 29.—Camp Harry J. Jones, near Douglas, is merely a temporary camp and will not be made a permanent Army post. At the same time, there is no present intention of its abandonment. This much was indicated by Assistant Secretary of War William G. Blandy, Chief of Staff, Harbord and Gen. Hines, commander of the Eighth Army Corps, on their late visit to Douglas and to the camp. Gen. Hines stated that the Army administration did not regard Douglas as a strategic military point. The military visitors were met by a committee of Douglas residents, who offered arguments for the establishment of a permanent post, a school section and a hospital. The committee has been set aside by the State of Arizona, and which adds the present camp. Buildings and construction work at Camp Jones have cost about $1,000,000, though most IRRIGATION PLAN.

Eighty thousand acres of a 140,000-acre tract controlled by the Stephens-McClary Company of San Francisco are to be irrigated in Sinaloa, Mex., by the new Sinaloa Canal, which construction is to be started this month. Under charge of G. E. Martin, the canal, twenty-four miles long, is to be completed before the end of the year. Sugar is expected to be the main crop on the land returned in the same section. Mexican government is building the great Culiacan Canal, 114 miles long, with thirty-four miles of the canal, diverting the river into a two-mile tunnel, with outlet above a tract of 35,000 acres of fine land in Arizona and Sonora. This land has been mapped by the Geological Survey. In the same locality at Beaver Dam, now a littlefield, was the first Arizona Saxon reclamation work in the present Arizona, undertaken by the Miller Mormon colony in 1855.

ADVOCATES TRIBUNAL IN RAIL PROBLEMS.

LABOR BOARD MEMBER CITES ONLY FAIR METHOD FOR ADJUSTMENTS.

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The only practical, effective and just method that the government can set up for the adjustment of railroad labor controversies, is advocated by a competent tribunal, whose decisions shall be enforceable by suitable penalties. Ben W. Hopper, public member of the Railroad Labor Board, told the civil federation in an address here today.

This was added by Mr. Hopper to his other five propositions looking toward equitable settlement of railroad disputes. These were:

"That efficient and uninterrupted transportation is indispensable to the public welfare."

"That the carriers and their employees jointly owe such transportation to the public."

"That the federal government has the right, as a matter of contract, public policy and police power, and owes to the people the duty to insure such transportation."

"That the government's duty and the people's rights are violated by permitting railroad labor controversies to be settled by economic warfare."

"That, if railway employees are deprived, for the promotion of the common good, of the legal right to strike, some other remedy of equal or superior efficacy must be provided."

"Just now nations are endeavoring at Washington to curtail the ancient doctrine of the supremacy of might," said Mr. Hopper, "and I believe that henceforth this spirit will likewise be potent in composing some of our domestic troubles."

"If the Congress of the United States would confer upon the Railroad Labor Board the power to enforce its decisions there is not a doubt that the United States would not be brought into prompt compliance with the rulings of the board."

Rail Commission Ruling Upheld.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30.—The Supreme Court today upheld the decision of the State Railroad Commission in the fixing of a valuation of the water plant purchased by the city of Auburn from the Pacific Gas and Electric Company.

The corporation appealed from the commission's ruling fixing the price to be paid as $52,000, contending that the amount was too low.

SAFETY FIRST PAYS, PROVEN.

Chicago Great Western Road Campaign a Success.

Accidental Deaths Cut from 33 to 20.

Ten Fatalities Were Result of Automobiles.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Systematic accident prevention pays, in dollars saved and suffering avoided, say officials of the Chicago Great Western Railroad in making public figures to show reductions in deaths and injuries on that road for 1921.

Accidental deaths were cut from thirty-three in 1920 to twenty in 1921, according to a statement issued by the company, and the number of injuries reduced from 410 to 294 in this period.

AUTO DEATH AGENT.

Ten of the deaths in the last year resulted from automobile-crossing accidents, five of those killed were trespassers on the right of way and five were employees, while no passengers were killed, the statement adds.

The western division won the banner offered by the company for the fewest train and train safety casualties per 100,000 engine hours. The train and train safety work among the employees by means of daily wire bulletins in each division, announcing the hour of days since there had been a reportable accident on the division.

This bulletin was put in at all telegraph stations. It was put out to train crews whenever they cleared a train from a station. The bulletin was given forth an agreement on the part of the contractor to pay an annual rental of 4 per cent on the cost of completion of dam No. 2.

TELL STORY OF GRIM BATTLE WITH SEA.

NORWEGIAN BOAT FOUNDERS, CAPTAIN AND EIGHT OF CREW DIED.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
ST. JOHN (N. B.) Jan. 30.—The story of a grim battle with shifting freight was told by twenty-three survivors of the crew of the new, electrically driven Norwegian steamship Mod, which foundered in midocean January 22.

The survivors were brought here aboard the steamer Melmore Head, which arrived on the scene just as the Mod gave her last lurch. Capt. Waarli, four of his officers, the steward and four firemen drowned when their boat capsized.

Chief Engineer, Captain Iversen said that the cargo first began to shift January 21 after being hit by a terrific sea. The crew kept aloft with pumps as long as possible, but were finally wrecked when the Melmore Head came to the rescue.

Those who perished with Capt. Waarli were First Officer Knudsen, Second Officer Iversen, Third Officer Hilgensen, Third Engineer Redken, Chief Steward Arneson and Fireman Kolben, Stranstad, Ole Olson and Sol Berg.

RADIO MONOPOLY IS PUBLISHER CHARGE.

ACCUSATION MADE AGAINST CORPORATION IN PRESS HEARINGS.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Charges that the Radio Corporation of America was seeking to obtain a monopoly of press radio communication from the United States were made today before a Senate committee by Joseph P. Pearson, chairman of the American Publishers Association committee on radio and cable communication.

Mr. Pearson said that the corporation had obtained a partial monopoly on the Atlantic Coast and was seeking a monopoly on press radio business on the Pacific Coast.

A protest against the bill was voiced by William H. Burleson, secretary of the National Association of Broadcasters, and by Richard A. Ford, representing the Radio Corporation, and H. H. Adams, speaking for the General Electric Company. They asked that the extension be limited to two years.

BARNYARD ROOSTER CHIVALROUS KNIGHT.

TRIES TO TEAR OUT EYES OF WOMAN WHO IS WRINGING CHICKEN'S NECK.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH.)
WAUKESHA (Ill.) Jan. 30.—The hero of the barnyard is not to be lightly regarded, nor any of his darlings to be slain while he can prevent it.

Miss Agnes Schinsky, employed at George's Cafe here, discovered that today when she was busy wringing the neck of a hen. The hen was thrashing and roosting of the crate had given freedom to an eight-pound rooster. This was unnoticed by the woman until the rooster came to her and tried to tear out her eyes. The woman raised her hands to her face, but not fast enough to save the tip of her nose, out of which a nip was taken.

Her sturdy peasant hand was so effective, however, that the hen will be eaten at George's but the woman will not be at work for several days. A friend came to her rescue, seized and killed the rooster.

CABINET TO DISCUSS OFFER FROM FORD.

WEEKS TO CONFER WITH HARDING ON MUSCLE SHOALS CONTRACT.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Secretary Weeks will discuss the proposed purchase and lease by Henry Ford of the Muscle Shoals power and nitrate projects with President Harding before sending the contract to Congress for final action. It was said today at the War Department.

Since Mr. Weeks has made no engagement today at the White House, it was assumed that the subject of Muscle Shoals would be taken up at the regular Cabinet meeting tomorrow.

The contract probably will be submitted to Congress Wednesday or Thursday, the Secretary said. Representative Edward Almon Alabama conferred with Mr. Weeks today and argued a favorable endorsement for the Ford order. The Secretary reiterated the report was submitted.

The proposed commission would have the right to determine "what has been the cost of manufacture and sale of fertilizer products and the price which has been charged, and, if necessary, for the purpose of limiting the annual profit to 10 per cent, as aforesaid."

The case of the contract as signed by Mr. Ford, January 25, was received today by Senator Harris of Georgia. It contained two modifications of the contract, one providing for the appointment of a commission by the President to see that the contract was strictly followed. The other provided for an agreement on the part of the contractor to pay an annual rental of 4 per cent on the cost of completion of dam No. 2.

MILLER IS ASKED TO PROVE IT.

Mexican Consul Here Challenges Promoter's Charges Hinting at "Graft."

A demand that he make public the names of person or persons he had in mind when he charged he was solicited for a large sum of money in connection with his project was made upon Orlando Miller by Gustavo Laders, Mexican consul in Los Angeles, yesterday.

"If Mr. Miller has any such grievance he should lay it before this office so that the official representatives of the Mexican government can take proper action. His charge and the subsequent failure to back it up with facts appear to lack sincerity," Mr. Laders said.

Miller, in his lecture Saturday night, said he was approached and asked $25,000 for a service worth not more than $3000, and that following his refusal to pay this sum the Mexican officials upon whom he was depending for active support in advertising his project, which he had called the "Chapala, Mexico, Beautiful," refused to take any part in the affair. Miller's lecture was given at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and was the first of a series of lectures given by Miller in the city.

Miller said that any of the patrons who had withdrawn their support from the lecture course which Miller was to have given this week at the Ambassador, and declared untrue the statement in The Times Sunday that Miller had said the course was abandoned because of such withdrawals. To set the point, The Times selected at random the names of the women named in Miller's literature as patrons of the course. Two of the three whom The Times made inquiries said they would have nothing further to do with the matter. They are Mrs. A. C. Culver and Mrs. Henry W. McHenry.

Miller said at the end of his lecture last night that a letter explaining the situation had been sent to every woman on the committee for the purpose of giving them an opportunity to indicate their stand in the matter. A number of women promised that the replies of these women will be made public.

MILWAUKEE ASKED TO CANCEL CONTRACT.

SHIPPING BOARD WANTS TO GET BUSINESS FOR YANK-OWNED VESSELS.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—The Shipping Board has requested the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway to cancel its contract with the Omaha Shoshone Kaisha Steamship Line in favor of American boats owned by the U. S. Navy.

The management of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Company wants to do everything in its power to help American commerce on land and sea, and if the business in question could be turned over to American ships by any contract cancellation by this railway, such cancellation would be effected at once," he said. "But no such result would follow. It should be understood that $6 per ton of the original freight arriving at Seattle is destined east of Chicago, a heavy percentage to New York. Any change in present arrangements would merely mean that any business we now receive and give to the Japanese line would be routed to New York by way of the Panama Canal, relieving all American roads of the heavy burden of the business."

Mr. Calkins added that the railway company is at present doing all the business possible with the American Admiral Line from Seattle.

MONTREAL BROKERAGE FIRM IS INSOLVENT.

DECLARED DEFUNCT FROM EXCHANGE FLOOR; DEPRECIATED INVESTMENTS.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
MONTREAL, Jan. 30.—Fairbanks, Goodwin & Co., members of the Montreal Stock Exchange, were declared insolvent from the floor of the exchange today. George W. Fairbanks and Jules Goodwin, who headed the firm, refused to make a statement. Gordon W. Scott and George Gardiner are now in charge.

The firm was heavily interested in the Holden and Canada Foundries and Forgings stocks, whose depreciation was alleged as the cause of the failure.

It was stated on good authority that the firm's liabilities will be in the neighborhood of $750,000, with assets conservatively estimated at $300,000. It is understood the firm is indebted to the Merchants' Bank in the sum of $240,000, part of which is secured by that bank's holdings of securities.

MANUFACTURERS ASK PROTECTION

Urges American Valuation Plan in Tariff.

Will Present Resolutions to Senate Body.

Operative Enforceable Law is Desired.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—American valuation of imports was urged in resolutions adopted by a convention of 1000 manufacturers, which met today at the call of the National Association of Manufacturers. The resolutions also declared for immediate revision of laws to provide "needed protection for manufacturers, agriculture and mining."

A delegation from the meeting will present the resolutions to the Senate Finance Committee tomorrow. President Harding received the delegates today.

The resolutions declared that the depreciation of foreign currencies has greatly reduced the effectiveness of the present tariff laws, and that the increased imports are "intensifying the evils of unemployment and consequent restriction of mercantile business."

ENFORCEABLE LAW.

"It is imperative," the resolution stated, "that American valuation method of assessing ad valorem duties shall be incorporated as a basic administrative principle of the tariff, as by so doing there will be placed on the statute books an operative enforceable law as against the present inoperative and nonenforceable law."

The opposition to the American valuation plan, it was declared, is "economically an opposition to substitution of protective tariff rates in the place of the revenue rates of the act of 1913."

ONE DISSENTING VOICE.

The resolutions were adopted by almost a unanimous vote, although one speaker, H. H. Miles of Racine, Wis., chairman of the Fair Tariff League, sought to arouse some opposition to the American valuation plan. Mr. Miles declared that the American valuation clause of the Fordney bill is in reality nothing more than a "domestic prices clause which surrenders the making of tariff rates to American wholesalers, backed by selfish manufacturers."

John E. Edgerton, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, presided at the convention. Col. John P. Wood of Philadelphia, president of the American Woolen Manufacturers' Association, was chairman of the resolutions committee.

MORE DEATHS FROM PNEUMONIA IN DAY.

DISEASE CLAIMS HALF OF THOSE STRICKEN IN NEW YORK, FIGURES SHOW.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Influenza cases reported today totaled 322, a falling off of 141 from the previous day, when 475 cases were reported. The largest number in any one day since the end of the epidemic of 1918-19.

Eight deaths from influenza and thirty-five from pneumonia were reported today. Since the first of this year 2400 pneumonia cases and 1844 deaths from pneumonia have been reported.

In spite of the extreme deadliness of pneumonia, which kills nearly every other person who contracts the disease, there have been only forty calls for the vaccine, according to Dr. William H. Park, the bacteriologist and vaccine expert of the health department.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. — Bright sunshine and thawing temperature did much today to restore normal conditions in Washington and the middle-Atlantic section, buried under Saturday's severe snow storm. The sunshine in Washington, although helpful in removing the snow, seemed to contrast strangely with the dark, stormy horizon.

Alarmed by the theater catastrophe, apartment house and business office owners continue to give attention to clearing roofs of snow.

Reports from Baltimore, Philadelphia and other cities in the path of the storm also told of rapid restoration of normal conditions. Heavy seas, however, were being experienced near Hampton Roads with several vessels still in danger.

Multiply two forces
Peppodent brings two other which authorities now desire.
The saliva contains two great protecting forces. One is a starch-resistant, to digest starch deposits in the mouth. The other is alkali, to neutralize acids, which attack the teeth.
These forces usually need fresh stimulation. Certain foods will deplete them, but most people fail to replace them regularly.
Peppodent, with every use, multiplies these tooth-protecting forces in the mouth. It largely increases the salivary and the alkaline. Thus morning it gives these forces
a multiplied effect.
That alone marks tremendous progress toward better tooth protection.

effects. You will see at once that Peppodent has not before been like this. Note how clean the teeth look. Note how the mouth feels. Note how the better. You will know these effects do for you. Get the free tube and see.

Blonde and Brunettes Both in "Times" Quest.
Contest May Settle Debate Begun by Ancients.
Fairest Maids of Southwest Send Photographs.

Will a blonde or a brunette be the winner of The Times' Beauty Quest?
Whether the blonde type is more beautiful than the brunette type has for years been a controversial question. The answer may be, as many insist, that it is merely a matter of individual preference. Socrates, Plato and some of the later philosophers may delve into the scientific features as to what

MEDICAL NOTE.
 Not only do the actors and authors come to Los Angeles in numbers, but the musical folk as well. If you catch a person on the street with a wistful, searching expression it is likely to be a musician mentally groping for the key of A flat.

AMONG THE CROWD.
 Once more the County Jail is breaking its record for congestion. The Sheriff is saying that there are 450 inmates in a building that was originally planned for about 150 inmates. Some of the prisoners now know how it feels to be inside a cage in a cage. Why can't folks learn to be good and behave? Then we could turn our jails into tanneries or bowling alleys.

FAMILY JARS.
 Even a Philadelphia home is not immune to domestic jars. There is a sad case of family embroilment in the divorce courts there that began when the husband filled up on moonshine and tried to play one of his wife's waffles on the phonograph. There was a quarrel which ended when the husband smashed a large portrait of Uncle William over the wife's head, leaving her neck filled with splinters of glass. The woman was taken to a hospital and the man to jail. Their home is to rent. Keep away from the moonshine.

TERM MARRIAGES.
 Term marriages are now being urged to certain highly polished circles. The suggestion is made that ten years be the outside limit. To people who advocate term marriages ten years would indeed seem rather lengthy. Three weeks would be more like it. But the suggestion is made with all blitheness that matrimonial unions have a term—like the Presidency. If the ticket seemed to be a good one there would be a second term. It might be possible to build up a machine to continue indefinitely, but there would be fixed periods at which a halt might be called. This sounds like Greenwich Village stuff, but there are brainy women writers who are ready to advocate it. Possibly the theory is that a short term is better than no term at all. But the suggestion will not make much of a hit in church circles. What some folks want is a Woman's Exchange.

WOMEN IN THE RING.
 They used to call them prize fights, but they are now athletic meets or boxing tournaments. The ladies are going to them. They are learning to like them. That makes a difference. Many of the boxing matches are under the auspices of the American Legion, and the officers of the law are disposed to deal very gently with them. They have even been held within the walls of a church with perhaps a dozen as referees. People are learning that the average boxing match is really quite a gentle and harmless affair and that even when blood is shed it doesn't mean that damage has been wrought. Hundreds of years ago doctors used to bleed people for their own good and some of them are doing it to this day. In the East they have fight machines for ladies. The feeling is that although a ring event is a mix it is best not to make it a mixed affair. The new Mayor of Cleveland is something of a fight fan himself, but he says that the inside is no place for a mixed audience. So there will be boxing contests there for men only and other fights at which women will be admitted to the exclusion of all others. If Dempsey meets Willard in Cleveland it will either be for men only or for ladies only. Presently we will have the female fight promoter and the lady manager and the women's clubs will be having athletic matinees in which a pair of wops will bruise one another to their heart's content. The time may even come when the women will do the battling.

JAPANESE POET, ENGLISH BRIDE.
 London is highly interested just now in the marriage of Gonsuaki Komai, the Japanese poet, to Vera Morgan, English classical dancer. Such a marriage in California would have created violent criticism, but England is merely amiably interested in the union and prefers to accept it with the usual sentiment aroused by any prominent romance.

The bridegroom, we are told, has transformed his London residence into a Japanese palace of singular beauty and has promised to "write the story of his romance" himself. The bride is described as a particularly beautiful and cultured girl, who "has accepted all the customs of her husband's country."

It may be that these two can prove the happy exceptions, but it is the sort of marriage one can't help accepting with reservations. It may be as well for the Japanese poet, if he purchases her will do never to write it at all—unless the bride is more adaptable than other Caucasian brides have proved in similar experiments.

But we are assured that the "Japanese are getting whiter all the time." It may be that Komai is the forerunner of a race of white Japanese, but it is noteworthy that his poetry is still brown. It was its brownness that intrigued London, its "difference" that made him famous. It is possible that a cultured classical dancer can live up to that difference—but Komai has not yet written the story of his romance.

MOBILIZING FOR PEACE.
 While the Disarmament Conference has accomplished more than any other single effort to unite the free peoples of the world in one gigantic peace offensive, one must be sanguine, indeed, to believe that it has succeeded in shattering war. The European situation is critical. Mutual suspicion among the different peoples there is still strong. Each suspects the others of a secret purpose to gain some military advantage. The present generation in Europe is still under the influence of heredity. The dead of other generations counsel the living and speak through their lips. While more than a third of the continent is in ashes, so to speak, the embers of militarism still glow.

America cannot settle the disputes of Europe. One has but to read the foreign press to discover that, whenever we attempt to do so, we are suspected of some ulterior motive. About the best that other countries can do is to place the continent of Europe in a moral quarantine until the passion for war burns itself out.

There is an excellent prospect, however, that the result of the Disarmament Conference will be to abolish war from a very considerable part of the world, from the Pacific area. In that America has taken the lead and Japan is apparently willing to second our efforts. Of course, there are jingoists in Japan, just as there are in this country. Japan, too, has its demagogues of the Johnson, Reed, Borah type. Their utterances are repeated in the Jingo press and, if they could have their way, Japan would begin at once a furious preparation for war with the United States.

But a gigantic peace mobilization has been taking place in this country, in Japan and in the countries of South America. Public opinion has set its face squarely against further preparations for war. It is an economic mobilization that promises to be as effective as the one made to force the World War to a conclusion. And it is stimulating to observe that some of those most active in this organization of popular opinion against war are men with unblemished military records.

At the close of the Civil War Gen. Grant and Gen. Sherman were the leading peace advocates in the nation. It was due in part to the influence of their speech and example that reconstruction proceeded along lines that united the people of the North and the South in bonds of common amity and sent the sons of those who fought against each other in the war among the States to fight side by side in the great 1913 offensive. Had it been otherwise, a situation might have developed which would have kept the North and South as far apart as were the people of England and Ireland.

Maj. Gen. O'Ryan, one of the heroes of the World War, has been making some notable utterances in the cause of world peace. In a recent address delivered in New York he asserted that:

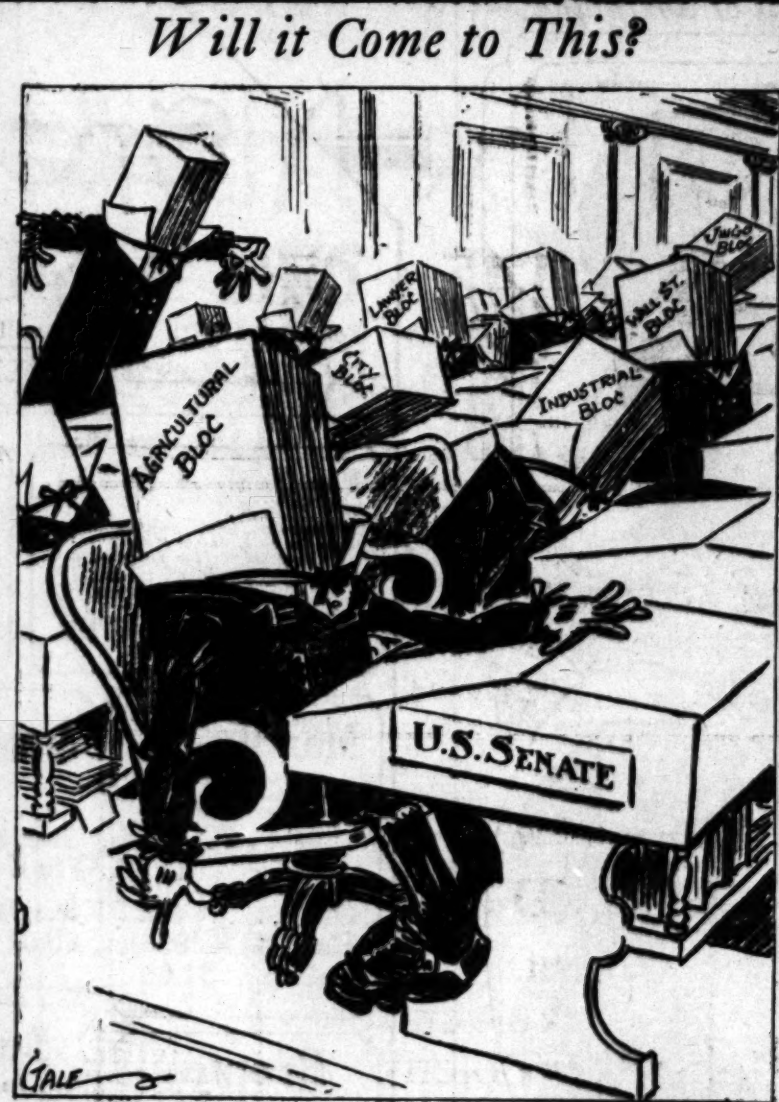

"The American people can end war in our time if they get on the job. Our statesmen may not be able to do it; but we can. War cannot be successfully waged through resolutions or through declarations or through appeals to passion. What is necessary is the complete mobilization of all war powers for war purposes. AND WAR CANNOT BE SUCCESSFULLY ABOLISHED EXCEPT THROUGH THE COMPLETE MOBILIZATION OF ALL PEACE POWERS FOR PEACE PURPOSES. Because there has been no opportunity heretofore for such mobilization, war has been hitherto unavoidable. But, because there is such an opportunity now, it is time for every American to get busy on the one big job. LET US WAGE PEACE!"

Waging peace is an offensive in which every one of us can take part. We must begin by directing our efforts against the secret allies of war in our immediate sphere of national influence. The first step to be taken is to secure the ratification by the Senate of the quadruple pact and the other treaties that the conference is now negotiating. We must beware how we exploit those who are opposing these treaties. If we continue to give them our support we shall be by our actions what our words express. If we persist in electing bitter enemies to office we must not be surprised if our peace offensive fails. We were very careful not to place German sympathizers in command of our troops in the war offensive; why should we support the enemies of peace in our peace offensive?

Maj. Gen. O'Ryan said truly that war cannot be abolished by resolution. We must mobilize for at least a ten-year offensive and our first objective must be the Pacific area. After we have won that victory and consolidated our position we shall probably be prepared for a peace offensive in Europe, as intensive as the great war offensive in which our troops took part. We shall use the best use of our forces if we do not attempt to wage the battle at the same time on all fronts.

While we devoutly desire to see an enduring peace established in Europe, we must not permit our attention to be distracted from the immediate point of attack. England, France and Italy are not wholly in accord; yet they are bound by ties of amity cemented by the blood of common sacrifice. Under present turbulent conditions the voice of our counsel is lost in the general confusion. And it is perhaps for the present to avoid offering them gratuitous advice. This does not mean that we should assume an attitude of aloofness or isolation; but we should beware of butting in. If we attempted to act now as banker of Europe indiscriminately we would quickly accumulate so much worthless paper that we would be driven into insolvency, ruining ourselves financially without really aiding anyone else. Our first peace offensive does not lie in that direction.

THE BETTER MAN.
 A sport fan is having mental exercise in debating which is the better man—the boxer or the wrestler. It seems William and Zybko started out to conquer the world with their bare hands which would have the biggest slice of it? If Jack Dempsey and Strangler Lewis were locked up in a room together and told to give battle for the most beautiful maiden on earth which one would come out with the girl? But all rules and regulations would have to be junked to make a decision effective. The rough stuff would count, and the world is trying to get away from that.

THE STATUS OF EDUCATION.
 Civilization has accepted the fact that under democratic forms of government education is essential. Where the people rule, the people must be educated.

Yet there are still a great many people who regard education as a luxury, as a side show or appendage of the state. We at present in the United States have no Minister of Education in the President's Cabinet. Britain has a Minister of Education, but that is not preventing the new economy proposals advanced by Sir Eric Geddes from ruthlessly slashing educational appropriations, wiping out to a great extent the great educational undertakings inspired by the illiteracy discovered during the war tests, and even to reduce teachers' salaries, making the profession even less attractive and less efficient than in prewar days. It is a hopeful sign, however, that these proposals have aroused a storm of public disapproval in Britain.

In this country, on the other hand, the illiteracy revealed by the war tests has shocked and inspired us to wider educational endeavor, not only in the individual States, but in Congress.

The idea of a state organized for the education of its citizens in the widest possible sense was worked out in Plato's "Laws." The outstanding feature of the suggested constitution was that the Minister of Education was also the Minister—and in this country it would mean that he was also the President. In fact, in Plato's ideal state, spiritual and mental education, the best intellects conforming to the best principles, would reign in all positions of authority. For Plato believed that intellectual development went hand in hand with moral development.

It may be some time before we can attain to any such ideal, but there isn't any question about the menace of ignorance and illiteracy in a democracy, and such an ideal is worth striving toward.

President Wilson, our school-master President, may have proved a long way from being the ideal state leader, but he was a great man and he was an idealist. And he held office during the most disastrous upheaval the world has yet witnessed. Yet no matter what his failures, he will stand out in history as the man who set the ideals of his country upon a "sphere" that commanded respect. Any country must be the richer and greater for such school-teachers. And incidentally, most of the great statesmen of the world have been highly educated men, notwithstanding the few notable exceptions.

If we admit that ignorance and illiteracy are the greatest menaces to a democracy, we must also concede that a higher standard of general education is the paramount remedy. The time has gone by when the argument could be offered that it is dangerous to educate the masses out of their "sphere." Such a view is only held today by the narrow and obsolete thinkers. We know now that education only uses those spheres to higher standards of efficiency, denudes them of their degradation, insures a greater perfection in the humblest of services. The only disgrace today is to be an ignorant servant, in whatever "sphere" one finds one's self.

Once this attitude of mind is firmly established in the public conscience, we may look to see the whole status of education and of the teaching profession raised to the highest level in national appreciation and of national responsibility. And we are gradually but surely working to that end. Elementary schools, high schools and universities everywhere report "crowded to capacity." Our own southern branch of the State University has turned away as many students as it accepted, a condition that should not be possible in an intellectually idealistic democracy. Moreover, the whole standards of teaching requirements are being raised. We no longer have "normal" schools for the training of our teachers—henceforth they will all be university graduates, whether their "sphere" takes them to the elementary or the high schools or the little country schoolhouses. And they are nearly twice as well paid as twenty years ago, commanding the greater respect their abilities demand.

States everywhere are increasing their university capacities in response to an overwhelming public demand. And it is food for optimism that such is, indeed, the case, at a time when it is the vogue to decry the frivolity of our young people. There cannot be much wrong with a rising generation that is crying out for higher education, filling the schools and colleges with faithful attendance and endeavor, or being turned hungry away.

A MATTER OF GEOGRAPHY.
 Can it be that the San Francisco Chronicle is planning to move us all up north? Are we to be transported, willy-nilly, climate, crops and all, to the ex-metropolis of California? It sounds fantastic, yet it must be so, else how can a crop map recently published in the Chronicle be explained?

In connection with an article telling of California's wonderful achievements in horticulture and agriculture the Chronicle prints a map purporting to show the principal crops and the location in the State and value of each. Huddled about San Francisco so closely that the artist has no room to spare are figures showing the value of orchard and field products. North from San Francisco and for some distance south of it crop figures crowd each other closely. Farther south there is plenty of blank space on the map. Ventura county is credited with a bean crop of unstated value. A figure or two mark the spots where San Bernardino and Imperial counties should be located.

One portion of the map should only be told of with care and circumspection. The news should be broken either at all or very gently. It should be told only to those who are known to have a well-developed and saving sense of humor. By all means it should be carefully guarded lest it get to the ears of the eminent statisticians of the United States Census Bureau, lest those worthy officials be so startled and shocked that they will become disoriented.

Now, let all patriotic citizens of Los Angeles county muffle their ears and close their eyes save only the most callous and hardy or those whose sense of humor is keen enough to withstand any kind of shock. The map is represented by a white space. It is probably an optical illusion. It cannot be that this county is a barren desert.

Please, Mr. Chronicle Editor, don't tell us that all of California's production is north of us and that our own fair lands are barren! You'll have all the Southern shoulders shaking with sobs—or something else. For we have been led to believe by official United States census figures that Los Angeles county beats all the counties of the country in value of crops, leading the second county by over $17,000,000 a year; that eight of the fifty leading counties of the United States are in Southern California. Figures hitherto known as reliable and accurate show that the southern half of California is the richest agricultural area in the United States and that Los Angeles county is the richest part of that area.

ROOSEVELT'S RELIGION.
 It is not positively asserted that Roosevelt never swore, but those who knew him most intimately testify that he never took the name of God in vain, and that at heart he was a profoundly religious man, regular in the performance of his church duties and abhorring atheists and atheism from the bottom of his heart.

William Allen White of Kansas, a friend of Roosevelt's, said that he arrived in Emporia at 2 a.m. at the end of a wearisome campaign tour, but was up early to go to church. He attended the big, popular church and hunted out his own denomination, the Dutch Reformed, which was housed in a tiny building. He sang with delight his favorite hymn, "How Firm a Foundation," which he sang in the German language. In his funeral, he sang in the German language one of his letters it is recorded that he used to give a cash prize of 5 cents to each of his children who memorized a hymn.

He was also a great reader of the Bible, and the fact is not generally known that for years he was a Sunday-school teacher. [Toronto Mail and Express.]

A Present Help.
 The writer: Listen, old man, can you loan me a ten spot? I don't get my salary until tomorrow.

The artist: Sorry, old top, but I haven't a nickel. I got mine yesterday. [Wayside Tales.]

TWO MINUTES OF OPTIMISM.

BY HERMAN J. STICH.

"It's Just My Nature."
 "Yes, I know I do that; but I can't help it. It's just my nature." Have you heard it?

Have you never said it? If you suffer from an expensive or mortifying fault, don't try to escape behind the skirts of "nature"; rather concentrate your determination and energy upon its correction and riddance.

Even "nature," it is being proved thousands of times every day, is a puny, feeble thing compared with determination and energy focused to conquer it.

Determination and energy being so much a matter of the mind may seem to be as light and feeble as a snowflake; but just consider for a moment the cumulative force of snowflakes.

There was a meeting between a passenger train and falling snowflakes. The snow fell slowly at first. Its gentle flakes dropped into the hot smoke and exhaust of the engine and were consumed in a breath.

They piled against the hot boiler and were melted up in an instant by the heat. They crept under the wheels and upon the tenders, and then disappeared entirely as the great heavy train rushed on.

What chance of life or influence had a snowflake against sixty tons of iron and steel driven by the power of steam?

Countless millions were hurled aside, swept and unused, a sacrifice to the great iron horse and the necessities of men.

But on came the tiny flakes, silently, swiftly, thicker and thicker. When a million more were consumed, a million more leaped to the sacrifice and flung their scintillating sparks into the roaring bores of the monster, as if glad to die to serve the collective life.

And soon, despite its mighty strength, the great locomotive's pace began to slacken. Slowly and more slowly it moved until, at last, with an expiring burst of frenzied effort, it stood still, panting and powerless in the whirling white.

As is the power of the snowflake, so is the power of determination and energy. The first efforts directed against the things that impede your progress may disappear as though they were feeble snowflakes.

But when after effort, buried to the tray in endless procession by man's indomitable determination, beats down all barriers and makes easy the way to ultimate triumph.

Determination and energy—these are the things that enable man to accomplish the seemingly impossible, because determination plus energy can be backed by no barrier—the bigger the barrier the harder the resolve, man tries to overcome it, and trying, succeeds.

RIPPLING RHYMES.
POTTER'S FIELD.
 Oh, here are rows and rows of graves, the cheapest graves you ever saw; the beds of futile, foolish knaves who thought that they could beat the law. When they are played no one signs, no hymns are sung, no prayers are said; no mourners head with weeping eyes above the couches of these dead. From workhouse wards and jails they come in wretched destitute of plumes, to every corner of the slum, to sleep in bargain counter tombs. The sextons shovel in the clay, and from the bonyard then withdraw; this is the end of those who say that they can surely beat the law. The criminal may die at times that he is not a total loss, and he may plan all sorts of crimes and seem to put the same across; but Justice eyes him every day, and always keeps him in her mind; and though he hopes along his way, the law is never far behind. Few criminals live out their days in comfort such as good men know, who walk in sane and godly ways, observing statutes as they go. Few crooks pass out on beds of ease, with high-proof dozes and nurses near; they render up their final wheeze behind a wall, beneath a pier. Is some dark jail their doom is sealed, with no one near to have a weep, and then they reach the Potter's Field where cheaper grades of dead men sleep.

HISTORIC NAMES.
 The unsavory advertising of our historic names, such as Grover Cleveland tied to the Berdell treason, and Roscoe Conkling linked with the Arbutus case, has aroused several civic societies to demand that something be done about it. Nothing can be done. We can neither spike them down in museums nor copyright them. The custom is patriotic and fresh as the remembrance of some brave exploit. Little Lucius Quintus Cincinnatus is christened in the hope that he will be found waiting at the plow. That he is waiting so often for trial for the fault of history, which declines to repeat itself. [Leslie's Weekly.]

What He Needed.
 When Farmer Bassett decided to send his son to college, and selected one exploiting the advantages of its physical training system, he had a plain talk with the president.

"John don't need no setting-up exercises. He sets up too late already, so I'd rather you'd cut them out. But say, if you've got any good settin' up exercises that are a sure thing, go to it with John!" [Wayside Tales.]

FIGHT STARTED
ON POWER ACT.Measure Outdoors Soviet.
Says Economy League.Proposed State Law Held
"Extremely Vicious."Campaign Against Scheme
Opens in Southland.

Declaring that the financial security and industrial progress of California are threatened by the proposed water and power act, which goes on the ballot at the next State election as a constitutional amendment, the People's Economy League yesterday issued a statement terming the measure "fantastical, socialist and extremely vicious."

"Never in the history of the United States has such a radical, impractical and dangerous measure been foisted upon the ballot for the vote of the people, and we are confident that when the truth is known and the evil nature of the proposed act exposed it will be consigned to the junk heap where it belongs," said Herbert L. Cornish, chairman of the People's Economy League, whose membership includes the names of men and women who are leaders in the business and social life of the city.

ACT IS OPPOSED.
Reports have reached the league, it was stated, showing that there is strong opposition to the measure throughout California and particularly in the southern counties.

"This act would create a political board of five members, appointed by the Governor, and give these politicians $500,000,000 of the people's money to spend on the development of hydroelectric energy when, where and how they please," continued Cornish. "The people have no voice in the selection of the board members nor in their actions. The board is uncontrolled and has unlimited power."

"Consider what that means! A gigantic political machine could be built up, as it is specifically provided that the board can hire as many people as it desires, pay whatever salaries it wants to and disregard civil service regulations. All employees would be subject to the orders of the board, political or otherwise, and the families and dependents of these employees would necessarily be a part of the machine."

CONFISCATE PROPERTY.
"That provision alone should be enough to defeat the bill, but there are others equally vicious. Under the act the board would have power to confiscate property of any city, water district or farming community if the same were not developed after the board had given notice."

"It is evident from the start that sponsors of the measure are convinced it will lose money, for provision is made that in the event principal and interest can not be paid on the $500,000,000 of added State indebtedness, more bonds can be issued."

"The act empowers the board to draw money from the State treasury to meet anticipated deficits and then to call upon the tax-paying and tax-collecting machinery of the State to collect the deficit from the people."

Soviet Russia never dared propose such a radical program as this, asserted Cornish. He also stated that the Nonpartisan League had far less power in North Dakota and yet the radical program of the league there brought ruin to thousands through the failure of twenty-eight banks.

Headquarters of the People's Economy League have been established at 1019 Van Nuys Building.

FOR THE FUNERAL OF PIONEER WOMAN.MRS. P. J. BOLIN LIVED HERE
FOR ALMOST HALF CENTURY.

Funeral services for Mrs. P. J. Bolin, California pioneer, who died Sunday afternoon in Venice, at the age of 81 years, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m., in the Cunningham and O'Connor chapel. The body will be cremated.

Mrs. Bolin was born in Petaluma, Nov. 23, 1840, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Rudell. Her father operated the first steam ferry from Petaluma to San Francisco.

More than forty-seven years ago she came to Los Angeles, traveling overland in a wagon. In 1887 she was married to Mr. Bolin, the ceremony taking place in a brick residence at the southeast corner of the Fifth street and Broadway. The couple then made the old Pico House, at the Plaza, their home, later moving to 1421 South Westmoreland avenue, where they lived for many years.

Mr. Bolin, widely known as a contractor, built many of the city's large buildings, one of the first being the Stinson Building, where he has since maintained his office. Mrs. Bolin leaves her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Frank Boettcher, and Mrs. Leonard Hall of Venice, and a son, Leonard J. Bolin of Santa Barbara. Her death occurred at her home, 117 Wavercrest avenue, Venice.

FUNERAL FOR PIONEER.

Mrs. Mary Johnson Came to State
Fifty-six Years Ago.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Johnson, aged 86 years, who died last Saturday at the home of her son, George W. Johnson, 317 Ganal street, will be conducted at 2 p. m., today in the chapel of Smith and Tuttle in Santa Ana. The remains will lie in state until noon at the C. E. Vesta chapel.

Mrs. Johnson, whose maiden name was Mary A. Morton and who was born in Memphis, Tenn., came to Sacramento with her husband in 1866. They came to San Francisco in 1878 and eighteen years ago moved to Los Angeles. Mrs. Johnson was the mother of Mrs. C. C. Lloyd and William P. Johnson of Fullerton; Mrs. Sarah S. Quigley and George W. Johnson of Los Angeles; W. W. Johnson of Santa Ana and P. F. Johnson of Tuli.

Jews Planning for Reception.

Will Greet Distinguished Visitors Next Month.

Prof. Otto Warburg Coming with Nahum Sokolow.

Seek Funds to Rehabilitate Race in Palestine.

Jews in Southern California are making final arrangements for the visit to Los Angeles, February 12 to 15, of Nahum Sokolow of Warsaw and Prof. Otto Warburg of Berlin University, in the interests of the world-wide endeavor on behalf of Keren Hayesod, the Palestine foundation fund.

These two distinguished visitors are members of the commission furthering the plans originating in the Zionist world congress for the rehabilitation in Palestine of homeless and persecuted Jews. A large executive committee is preparing for the proper reception of the guests and the education of Southern California Jews to the needs and purposes of the organization.

On February 14, the official banquet and reception with Louis M. Cole as chairman of the reception committee, will be held at the Alexandria. The two days preceding this meeting will be devoted to informal meetings.

Following the general mass meeting at which an appeal for subscriptions will be made, a house-to-house canvass of Jewish homes is planned. By use of the money to be raised throughout the world it is hoped to establish favorable conditions in Palestine for the use of the many Jews now oppressed in other nations.

Marion R. Newman is honorary president of the local organization of the Keren Hayesod. Other officers are: Dr. M. J. Wisnietzky, president; Dr. L. G. Reynolds, Rabbi E. M. Koshes and Dr. E. Greenbaum, vice-presidents; Dr. Leo Blum, general secretary; Dr. J. P. Jacobson, financial secretary; S. L. Blum, recording secretary, and Ben R. Meyer, treasurer.

Other members of the executive committee are Mrs. Albert Anderson, Alexander Brick, Louis M. Cole, Dr. M. Etteinson, Dr. Julius Frankel, Harry Frank, Dr. Eugene Gold, Dr. A. Gottlieb, M. E. Greenman, Irving Hellman, Marco H. Hellman, J. Herchehoff, Mrs. Jules Kaufman, L. Kirstein, J. L. Mainmuth, Mrs. M. S. Meyer, M. E. Meyerberg, I. Naumoff, L. E. Nordlinger, S. Rosen, Rabbi Moses Rosenthal, Maurice Sussman, Dr. Shapiro, Mrs. Anna Sussman, Philip Stein, Aaron Tonia, Rabbi E. Trautner, William Weinstein and Adolph Swin.

GOOD TIME ASSURED.

"Times" Family Party Will be Held This Evening.

Will a good time be had by all at The Times family party at the Goldberg-Hesley hall, this evening? Peggy Hamilton will say so. In fact, she has already said so and promises to "present" a constellation of entertainers who can be described in no other term than "classy." Here's what Peggy says about "em":

"In the first place, we will have several selections by the Ad Club Trio, composed of Ben Berman, Harry Levitt and Leonard Baskin, whose songs would be just as welcome and entertaining if they hadn't been sponsored by Dan Silverwood four years ago. Ethel Jenks, the girl who made the California Opera Company famous and who is a soloist for my fashion shows in New York and Los Angeles, will also sing for us. Her accompanist will be Miss Bernice Wilson, who has played for all the great singers in America. Another entertainer will be Francis Murphy, a baritone who really has a bear of a tone—although, being a grandson of the late Francis Murphy, no one ever accused him of making a growler."

Among other features of The Times family reunion will be dancing, card playing and delectable private gossip (among the ladies, of course) about the latest Times brides and bridegrooms.

TO GIVE PLAYS.

Drama Section of Gamut Club to Perform Tomorrow.

Wives and women friends of members of the Gamut Club will be guests of honor tomorrow night at the monthly dinner and entertainment, which will be known as a ladies' night. Hans S. Linn is in charge of a musical program which will provide the presentation of three one-act plays by the club's drama section. For the first time, these productions will be open to the public.

Dan Crimmins and Rosa Gore, old vaudeville favorites, will be among the players, appearing in a colored folk play, "The Rider of Dreams," and supported by Dan Crimmins, Jr., and Harry Kenneth.

Ben Sharp and Sumner Avery will be seen in "The Blindness of Wisdom," a fantasy by G. Harrison Wiley. Melbourne MacDowell, Jack C. Weisberg, Miss Virginia Felt, Miss Henrietta Raynor and Walter Rodgers will stage "An Enchanted Forest," a comedy drama by Francis Powers.

NEW PASSPORT RULES.

Americans and Mexicans to Cross Border Without Papers.

New passport regulations received yesterday by Charles M. Williams, clerk of the U. S. District Court, provide that after February 1 passports will not be required by American citizens desiring to visit Mexico. Mexican citizens will enter the United States without passports.

American citizens desiring to visit Cuba, Canada, Paraguay, Salvador, Costa Rica and Honduras are not required to equip themselves with passports.

DYNAMIC CHINA EDMUNDS' TOPIC.

Friday Morning Club Will Hear Educator.

U.S.C. College of Oratory to Offer Plays.

Bigotry in Criticism is the Speaker's Target.

BY MYRA RYE.

Dr. Charles Keyser Edmunds, magnetic observer in China for the Carnegie Institute of Washington, will speak before the Friday Morning Club this week on "Dynamic China." Dr. Edmunds has been in the Orient as an engineer and educator for eighteen years and has traveled 45,000 miles in his work. Persons in the United States have so long thought of China as asleep, said Mrs. A. S. Longier in announcing the subject, that they have failed to realize the force of present movements in that distant and wonderful land, but the delegates to a peace conference in Washington have given some idea of China's power. Dr. Edmunds, knowing China as few Americans know, can give a new aspect to the people of the Middle Kingdom. A musical recital is scheduled for the second Friday in February when Mrs. A. S. Longier, pianist, Eleanor Hornby Woodford, dramatic soprano, with Mrs. M. Henson Robinson, will appear. Three one-act plays, a fantasy, a comedy and a tragedy will be the offering February 17 when the college of oratory, U.S.C., will present the plays with the students of the dramatic departments taking part under the supervision of Miss Elizabeth Yoder, dean of the college. Charlotte Perkins Gilman said, "I went to a meeting of the McDowell Club and heard a few precious young editors air their views as to American literature and have been simmering ever since." The last Friday she will have the opportunity to simmer to the point of ebullition for her subject, which she as well as the club is anticipating, is "Bigotry in Criticism."

Big Sisters' League.

The monthly tea and entertainment given by the Big Sisters' League at the training home, 2119 Trinity street, Thursday at 2 p.m., will be presided over by the newly elected president, Mrs. Harriett W. Works. A program will be presented under the direction of Sid Grauman and his mother, Mrs. D. J. Grauman. Mrs. Minnie Bryant, president of the league, announced the program for the year's work and of the future plans for the Big Sisters' League are: Mrs. Rose Bryant, first vice-president; Mrs. W. E. Munier, second vice-president; Mrs. J. Jay H. Wiley, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Brain, secretary; Mrs. Frederick Hickok, corresponding secretary. The public is invited. Tea will be served at 4 p.m.

Assistance League.

Mrs. Hancock Danning, president of the Assistance League of Southern California, announces the annual meeting to be held today, beginning at 10:30 a.m. in the Italian room foyer of the Harlequin Theater at the Hotel Ambassador. It is planned to make the meeting interesting with reports of the year's work, speakers and an outline of the future policy of the league.

Los Angeles Chapter D. A. R.

To meet Mrs. S. F. Marks, former president of the Tidbits Chapter of Pennsylvania, Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. John D. Fredericks will entertain the Los Angeles chapter at her home, 559 South Ardmore street, tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. Clinton Miller of the Chamber of Commerce will speak on "Washington and Lincoln, Americans." This meeting of the chapter was announced with Mrs. Nicholas Milbank as hostess, but on account of her illness the change has been made.

The Ethel Club.

"Democracy and the Far East" will be the subject of Dr. Charles K. Edmunds speaking before the Ethel Club next Monday and following week there will be a lecture by Mrs. Forbes-Robertson Hale. On this latter day there will be a community singing led by Hugo Kirchhofer with Mrs. Guy Bush at the piano.

A patriotic program will be given February 25, when an address on "The Life of Washington" will be given by Dr. J. H. Main and the last Monday of the month a group of Irish plays will be read by Mary Agnes Doyle. Lucile Bradley, pianist, and Mrs. Grace Bradley Talman, soprano.

THE LAST WORD.

BY ALMA WHITAKER

If we women ran the newspapers—which we don't, not even the women's magazines—I wonder whether we should run beauty competitions? I wonder whether we would be willing to spend $10,000 to find the most beautiful girl in our community. I am afraid we should not, for although a great many of us do concede that woman's first duty is to be as beautiful as time, nature and the drug store will permit, we are also apt to object to those comparisons which can be so odious after 30, to modestly, privately concede that a beauty quest is no place for us.

But we might run a competition to discover the most faithful husband in town, or the most devoted mother, or the most admired club woman, or the most honest policeman. And incidentally that would be a bit more original and infinitely more illuminating. But it properly would not arouse any enthusiasm like the amount of enthusiasm which the "women" papers flatter ourselves that "women"—not girls—are one of the vital and influential factors of the day, but all the same our newspapers are run by men and for men, and give us the most part.

And perhaps it is just as well. For we can be interested in their interests, but they would be bored to extinction by our own. But it really might be profitable to have an exclusively female newspaper—now. Lord Northcliffe started one fifteen years ago in London called the Daily Mirror. But then Lord Northcliffe was a man who thought he understood women. It was an awful fiasco. Until he transformed it into a picture newspaper for the masses—and ran a beauty competition. But we were glad it failed as a woman's newspaper—his and our idea of our interests were so far apart. Mrs. Herbert Chubb has reminded us that this woman's party measure which hopes to enact a twenty-fourth amendment to the Constitution, giving women absolutely co-equal equality with men in law, commerce, customs and every aspect of life in this country, may not necessarily prove a boon to our sex.

In fact, to a great extent it will counteract all that "protective" legislation for our sex, which, just because we cannot repudiate the adamant facts of that sex, are still previously necessary. At present we have more privileges than rights, and although in a remote future we may be able to shoulder the tremendous responsibilities of strict "equality," we may as well admit that a very small percentage of us are capable of doing any such thing not only at present, but in the future. It is highly doubtful whether that National Woman's party is really doing us a good turn. Certainly not until our education and training have progressed to a far greater degree of attainment. For, alas, equality means a good deal more than mere prestige. It means living up to that prestige. It means being father as well as mother, whose no man, no matter what his lofty aspirations, can ever share our motherhood. We have to do that alone anyway, and then the privileges seem to appeared before the club yesterday in a delightful musical recital. Mrs. Grantland Beaton Long read resolutions thanking the editor of The Times for his attitude expressed editorially in support of the Eighteenth Amendment. They were adopted with enthusiastic unanimity.

Echo Park Mothers' Club.

"Psychological Effect of Colors in Our Home and in Our Lives" will be the subject of Miss Elsie Lee speaking before the Echo Park Mothers' Club Friday in the clubhouse. Mrs. Margaret Heiskell will speak briefly on the aims and needs of the new Orthopedic Hospital. The program is in charge of Mrs. A. Pinegar and will be precesed by the usual gymnasium class under the direction of Miss Hortense Williams.

A costume dance will be given by the club Saturday night. All those who come dressed other than as children will be fined. The loss of a children's party will be carried out in many ways and all members, their families and their friends are cordially invited. Mrs. Maurice Manley will be hostess.

League of American Pen Women. Capt. Russell MacLennan will be the speaker at the monthly luncheon of the League of American Pen Women, at the Men's City Club, Chapman Building, Eighth and Broadway, Monday, at noon. Reservations should be made with Miss Ella F. Truse at the Burlington Apartments.

District Federation. Business transactions for the soldier burial plot plan will be discussed at a special meeting of the committee from all the city and county women's clubs of the federation, Thursday, at 2 p.m., in

OPPOSE PLAN OF FLOOD ENGINEER

Paradise Objects to Use of Arroyo Seco.

Justice Finds Former Officer Innocent of Crime.

Crown City Housewives Cry for Fuel Gas.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)
PARADISE, Jan. 30.—Sug- gestions by Flood Control Engineer J. W. Reagan, in The Times yester- day, that Pasadena turn Brook- side Park over to the flood con- trol district in order that the Arroyo Seco in Pasadena proper might be made a flood-water re- servoir, above a new dam, drew statements from Pasadena city of- ficials today that the city would oppose such a move.

Paradise will oppose any at- tempt on the part of the county flood-control board to take the Brookside Park as part of a flood control plan," said City Man- ager C. W. Kohn.

Paradise wants the Arroyo as a beautiful park. Besides Brookside Park, already established, the Arroyo is to be the side of the new stadium.

FORMER POLICEMAN FREED.
Former Policeman E. T. Moore was freed of a charge of receiving stolen property at a hearing before Judge E. G. Thompson in Justice Court this afternoon. Evidence in- troduced showed that the former policeman innocently loaned money to some young men on a machine, which subsequently was found to have been stolen. Moreover he was able to satisfy the court that his association with the young men, begun through business as- sociations, was quite innocent.

GAS SHORTAGE STILL ON.
The gas shortage is still acute in Pasadena. Many householders are without heat and without fuel for cooking purposes, as a result. The schools were closed today because of the rain and low tem- perature. Gas is used as fuel in eight of the schools.

SOLDIER AID URGED.
Support for the referendum measure providing a $10,000,000 state fund for aid to former soldiers and sailors was urged by Gov. W. D. Stephens at a luncheon today at the Chamber of Com- merce. Dr. J. T. Parker, chair- man of the chamber reception committee, presided at the luncheon. The presentation by the Governor of the State-wide prize for fire prevention propaganda to the Grant school of this city, was postponed until Thursday because of the inclement weather.

Mr. Ham- mond denied reports that he is planning to go to Mexico to take charge of a big irrigation engineer- ing scheme. He said that his health was not of the best this winter, and that he is engaging in no professional work out here; just resting. After a stay in Santa Barbara, he will return di- rect to New York. Mr. Hammond gave a talk to students at the California Institute of Technology this morning.

All de- tails of the entertainment program for the entire six days the ship will be here have been completed, according to Claude E. (LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)
VENICE, Jan. 30.—Seriously cut about the head and face by flying glass, Elizabeth and Bartley Bier- brauer of 1822 Tremont street, Los Angeles, were treated at St. Cath- erine's Hospital following an auto- mobile crash early today. The ac- cident occurred at "Death Curve" on Washington Boulevard.

QUARREL ENDS IN SHOOTING.

Taft Contractor in Hospital in Critical Condition.

Dispute Concerning Lease is Cause of Trouble.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
TAFT, Jan. 30.—John Vitello, prominent contractor of this city, lies in the Jefferson Hospital at the point of death with gaping bullet holes in his jaw and in his right side as the result of a shooting episode at the Alford Hotel last night. His purported assailant, A. B. Willis, and the latter's wife are now in jail at Bakersfield.

The condition of the wounded man is said to be extremely critical. The bullet that entered his jaw tore its way through his temple leaving a yawning hole. The wound in his side is equally serious. A dispute as to the ownership of a lease on the Alford, one of Taft's leading hotels, between the wounded man and Willis, led to the quarrel which may result in murder. According to the authorities Vitello was advising a couple to leave the hotel, an action violently objected to by Willis, said to be in charge of the place at the time. At the outset it was only a heated argument, but Willis, however, who dropped to the floor unconscious.

A. L. Vitello, a brother of the man who was shot, and Willis, who struggled with him for the possession of the gun, which Vitello obtained after a hard fight at this point, it is said, Mrs. Willis also brandished a revolver, striking Vitello on the head while he was still grappling with her husband. The blow, however, was not effective enough to force the desperate Vitello to desert in his flight to take the gun away from Willis.

A warrant was sworn out to- day against Mrs. Willis by A. L. Vitello, charging assault with a deadly weapon. She was taken to the county seat with her hus- band, following the affray, by De- puty Sheriff Horace Dupes, who was sent here by Sheriff B. Boone Newell.

STEAL HEIRLOOMS.
Theft Visits Home of Prominent Porterville Resident.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
PORTERVILLE, Jan. 30.—Local police are investigating infor- mation which it is hoped to lead to the arrest of robbers who entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Phillips, during their brief absence at noon yesterday, and took jewelry and furs valued at from $1200 to $1500 belonging to Mrs. Phillips, prominent club woman of the valley and member of the State Board of Education.

Much of the jewelry was heir- looms, treasured not only for their quaint beauty and purity of the diamonds, but for sentimental rea- sons. Indications point to an ex- perience hand at familiarity with local conditions.

A series of similar robberies has occurred throughout the county re- cently, and householders are warned against leaving valuables in the home even for a short time.

GROWERS MEET IN CAUCUS.

Deciduous Fruit Men Hold Annual Pre-Election Meet- ings and Hear Reports.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
ONTARIO, Jan. 30.—Members of the California Growers' Associa- tion in the Ontario district, held a caucus meeting today at the Euclid Theater to make nominations for members of the board of directors as a preliminary to the annual elec- tion of the association which is to be held in Los Angeles February 7.

Nominated for directors at to- day's meeting were Benton Ballou, Austin Wallina, H. E. Feters and Judge C. H. Whitney.

Growers of the Hemet district will hold a similar meeting to- morrow and those of San Jacinto will meet Wednesday.

Reports of J. A. Campbell, man- ager, and J. J. Mills, secretary of the association, showed the past season to have been highly success- ful from a standpoint of co-opera- tive marketing and the advance- ment of the deciduous fruit in- dustry.

Ontario is the deciduous fruit in- dustry very much what the Cali- fornia Fruit Exchange is to the citrus growers and the advance- ment of the deciduous fruit in- dustry is a co-operative plan is de- clared to be becoming more and more evident to the organization.

Husband Seeks Other Woman, Wife Charges.

Frederick E. Gustafson told his wife, Emma J. Gustafson, she testified in divorce proceedings be- fore Judge McLucas, that it would take some time to get another woman, but he thought he could get one. He subsequently start- ed to seek the company of other women, she stated, and the re- ports from friends that began to come to her caused her suffering, she declared.

They had been married thirty years, the testimony showed, when the climax came and they separa- ted. She told the court that at a party at their home he objected to her dancing with a boy, 18 years of age. The court continued the case until February 3, to en- able Mrs. Gustafson to present corroboration of her testimony.

REFUSES ANESTHETIC.
Accident Victim Walks Away After Having Finger Amputated.

"Never mind me. Just get out your knives and go to cutting." This is what Arthur Kovalovsky, 30 years of age, of 1208 Orange Drive, Hollywood, told Dr. A. R. Broadbent of the Hollywood Com- munity Hospital late yesterday af- ternoon when he walked into the hospital with a mangled right hand.

Refusing any form of anesthetic, Dr. Kovalovsky allowed Dr. Broad- bent to amputate the index finger of his right hand and then walked out of the hospital without assist- ance.

Police records show that Mr. Kovalovsky caught his right hand in the starting chain of his auto- mobile.

One million population in 1922 in Los Angeles and what it means to you

Every new man, woman, child and baby in Los Angeles between 1910 and 1921 is represented today on the Los Angeles County Assessment Rolls by an increase in real estate values of more than $1000.

The actual official figures are:

Increase in population; 256,875.

Increase in real estate (assessed valuation), $288,270,595.

As the assessed value of real estate is about one-half its real value, the actual increase in Los Angeles County real estate values for each new inhabitant is nearly $2000.

Who Gets the Money

Bear in mind, this new wealth includes every — whether real estate owners or not. The single fact that these people are in Los Angeles is represented by a blanket increase in real estate assessment values of ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS FOR EACH NEW RESIDENT.

This money—this increased land value of nearly Two Hundred and Ninety Million Dollars — in land values alone is reflected everywhere in Los Angeles—the most prosperous city in America today. Nearly everybody has some of it—the butcher, the baker, the banker, the newsboy—all share it, and virtually everyone who has bought and sold property in the last ten years has especially profited.

The Big Winners

But, note this—wherever you look you will find that the big returns, the solid fortunes, unaffected alike by war prosperity and post-war misery—were built by, and belong to, the men and women who underwrote and engineered the big developments. These fortunes were made from properties previously undeveloped, and that is why these people paid to others their six, eight or ten per cent returns and made for themselves twenty—fifty—one hundred per cent. The men and women who hold these new fortunes are the people who are entitled to them, because they saw what it meant to participate in development that was necessary and inevitable.

424,000 New Residents

What does all this mean to you?

The 1920 census showed 576,073 residents in Los Angeles — a growth of 78% over 1910.

An even lower rate of growth will produce in 1925 a population of more than One Million. In fact, if the City grows only ten per cent each year, compounded, starting with 1920, the One Million Mark will be reached some time in 1926.

This means 424,000 new people in Los Angeles.

Where Will They Live?

Where are they going to live? Which way will the city grow to accommodate them?

Santa Monica, Hermosa Beach, Redondo, Long Beach, Beverly Hills—all answer you. The City will continue to seek the ocean. You cannot drive it elsewhere.

Palos Verdes Estates

Palos Verdes Estates, 25 square miles, in the very center of the Los Angeles Coast line, as yet unbroken for residential purposes, is now to be developed into a great and beautiful residential district. It will be developed first, and sold to the public afterwards. Because we know more about city building than we used to, it will be planned, zoned and engineered into the most exquisite of all Los Angeles' suburban jewels. Some of it already lies within Los Angeles city limits.

Who Will Benefit?

In Palos Verdes Estates, as everywhere, the underwriters will reap the largest profits. They may have their pick of the improved

See the Model

In order that the exact relation of the Palos Verdes Estates to Greater Los Angeles and also how they would appear when the general improvements had been made on them, might be fully grasped by those who have the task of carrying out this undertaking, a great model 25x38 feet in size, showing to exact scale all Los Angeles, San Pedro, Long Beach, Redondo, Palos Verdes and the terrain from the mountains to the sea, was constructed at a cost of $20,000. It is now on exhibition at the Philharmonic Hall, 5th and Hill. Go and see it.

properties at COST of property and improvement, or they may receive their reward, without even buying in on the property at all, through first their money back and then a pro-rated share in 90% of all profits accruing from sales to the general public by the Estates and all assets.

Salient Facts

1. Palos Verdes Estates development is open to the public under conditions providing complete protection for all underwriters.
2. All subscriptions to the underwriting of Palos Verdes Estates must be placed by you in the hands of the Title Insurance and Trust Company, Los Angeles, California, one of the largest and ablest title and trust institutions in America.
3. The Title Insurance and Trust company will not release a dollar of your money for any purpose until total subscriptions reach $15,000,000—an amount sufficient for undertaking the successful prosecution of this enterprise.
4. In the event that $15,000,000 is not subscribed within 6 months, your entire paid subscription, less 1% of the amount paid as the trustee charge, will be refunded by the Title Insurance and Trust Company.
5. Subscribers to this underwriting will have the option of selecting their holdings in Palos Verdes Estates in order of their subscription, regardless of the amount subscribed.
6. Subscriptions to Palos Verdes Estates, in accordance with standard underwriting will be 10% down and the remainder distributed over equal monthly payments.

What it All Means

Palos Verdes Estates—10 acres, with all the proposed improvements, will cost approximately $35,000,000, or $15.50 per foot, deducting one-third for parks, streets, etc., and 208 feet deep. At $50 a foot, an exceptionally low average for seaside residential property, the gross return to note would be $110,000,000. The lots be made only 90 feet as in surrounding suburbs, gross return, at the same rate per front foot, would be $100,000,000, against $35,000,000 investment cost.

Ask for the Complete

We will be glad to send a responsible investor complete details of the Palos Verdes Estates underwriting, with full descriptions of the properties, data on history, climate, etc., relative values, and other information material, fully illustrated with photographs showing conditions of surrounding districts already built up for many miles north and along the seashore.
